Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session. A rule of order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, except that portion of Rule 7 relating to third reading of bills. A motion or resolution proposing to increase or diminish a standing committee shall not be adopted until the same has been referred to the Committee on Rules.

The Committee on Rules may also, at any time, report a temporary rule or regulation. When such temporary rule or regulation shall have been adopted by a two-thirds vote of the House it shall have the effect, for the time being, of a standing rule, and if such temporary rule shall be in conflict with a standing rule it shall supersede said standing rule for the time being, and shall be enforced by the Speaker.

The committee shall report upon each bill so referred to it on the same legislative day. The report shall be made at the conclusion of the consideration of the Senate Special File.

RESOLUTIONS—(RESUMED).

The following resolutions were introduced:

By Mr. Wright, H. W.:

Resolved by the Assembly of the State of California, That a cordial invitation is hereby extended to Francis J. Heney, Edward L. Doheny, Jo V. Snyder, Irving C. Ackerman, L. F. Puter, John F. Barry, Oscar Hocks, James F. Peck, R. F. Del Valle, Lorin A. Handley, Mrs. Virginia M. Spinks, Mrs. Mary Marshall Wiley, and Mrs. Carrie L. Tyler, being the persons chosen by the people of the State of California as presidential electors, to assemble in the Assembly Chamber, in the State Capitol, at the city of Sacramento, on Monday, January 8, 1917, at two o'clock p. m. for the purpose of casting the electoral vote of the State of California for President and Vice President of the United States, as provided by section 1315 of the Political Code

Resolution read, and on motion adopted

By Messrs. Gelder and Eksward:

Whereas, The Supreme Ruler of the Universe has taken from our midst Honorable Henry Ward Brown, a former member of the Assembly of the State of California, and

Whereas, In his death the legislature has sustained the loss of one of its most useful and faithful members and the State of California a most honored and patriotic citizen; therefore be it

Resolved, That it is right, fitting, and proper at this time that the members of the Assembly of the forty-second session should give expression to a loss so great to the State of California.

Honorable Henry Ward Brown was a member of the thirty-third, thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth, thirty-ninth, fortieth and forty-first sessions of the legislature of this State. He was one of the oldest members of the Assembly and amongst its most untiring workers. To those who knew him best and closest Henry Ward Brown was a man and a gentleman in every sense of the words. He was an able lawyer and representative, a good husband and a loving patriot. He did his duty to the fullest. He always had the courage of his convictions and was fearless in the expression of his views on every subject. No matter what the situation might be that would give him public honor and public office, he was ever ready to act in the interests of honesty, truth and justice. His sympathies, his benevolence, his humanness, his love of what was just, right and true were not restricted to his activities as a member of the legislature.

Henry Ward Brown was a friend, a brother and a citizen of the larger fraternity, the larger organization, the larger state—the human family. He loved man, admired manliness, and his sympathy went forth to every man everywhere irrespective of race, creed or nationality, whose opportunities were wrongfully barred, whose rights were wickedly denied and whose liberties were despotically suppressed. His whole life was weighed down by the "burden of truth." He possessed rare and admirable qualities and a profound knowledge of the law.

Firm, yet courteous, he endeared himself to his friends and enemies alike and won their admiration and respect for his talents and integrity.

This State has lost a faithful statesman whose deeds and words of wisdom will live for all time to come. We realize that words are inadequate to express the deep feeling of sadness and regret for the death of one of the state's best men; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be engrossed by the Chief Clerk of the Assembly and that the same be conveyed to the widow of the late Honorable Henry Ward Brown; and be it further

Resolved, That when the Assembly adjourns on this day it does so out of respect to the memory of the late Honorable Henry Ward Brown.

Resolution read, and upon rising vote was unanimously adopted.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

The following explanation of vote by Mr. Quinn was ordered printed in the Journal:

MR. SPEAKER. In voting for the office of Speaker my vote was determined by the fact that I am a Democrat and that the Democratic Electoral College would this day meet in the Assembly Chamber to cast the thirteen electoral votes of the State of California for Woodrow Wilson for President of the United States.

Under such auspicious circumstances I felt that my vote for Speaker should be cast for a Democrat.

Also:

By Mr Hawson:

MR. SPEAKER. In explanation of my votes for Speaker and Speaker pro tem, I desire to say that the same were in no way intended as an expression of animosity against yourself or Mr. Ryan. I believed it to be my duty and my privilege to cast my votes for those offices for members of my political party—the party whose representatives are shortly to cast the electoral vote of the great State of California for President and Vice-President of the United States.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was taken up and read:

BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR HIRAM W. JOHNSON.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

January 8, 1917.

To the Senate and Assembly:

In accordance with custom and the requirements of the Constitution, I transmit this to you as my biennial message.

In four regular sessions of the legislature and two special sessions, we have together been striving for the common good. What otherwise would be a mere formal act in transmitting a biennial message to you, becomes with me a very solemn moment as I contemplate the last six years, with its early fears and hopes and aspirations and dimly seen possibilities, the first striving and struggle, the barriers apparently insuperable, one by one battered down, and then a great people entering the sunlight of political freedom and pressing forward upon the path of democracy triumphant.

In six years California has witnessed a complete political revolution, a unique metamorphosis in economic policies. To many and varied activities a new philosophy of government has given an impetus which no reaction can check. The newly created departments of state have duties widely divergent, covering fields far removed from one another, but all radiating from a common purpose and from a single policy, announced in the inaugural address of 1911, initiated in the legislative session of that year, and since then pertinaciously and consistently carried out. It is my purpose in this my last biennial message to present to you not alone a recital of the public service, but the underlying principles and the partially attained ideals which have been vigorously fought for and rigorously adhered to.

Prior to 1911 for two generations our State had been dominated politically and industrially by one railroad corporation. The selfish domination by this one transportation and commercial enterprise had made California one of the most backward of states. The old and the cynical method of government responding alone to a private interest, scarcely heeded the problems that had come to democracy, with modern machinery and modern invention, and the marvelous development of later years. The government of the old order had placed its emphasis alone upon property rights and little or none on human rights, had been concerned too much with problems of wealth and not enough with problems of poverty. Untouched were the evils unknown to our republic in its earlier days, but which had crowded upon us in recent years—the evils of unemployment, the evils of inefficiency, the evils of the slums, the evils which spring from the misuse of economic power, in short, all the evils which constitute the great and fundamental problem of poverty.

At first indistinctly and then clearly, our thoughtful and patriotic men and women saw that government must take a new attitude toward the governed, or ultimately perish utterly; that not only must it continue to protect the wealthy against depredations by the poor, and maintain its police and its armies, but that it must protect the poor also against exploitation, chicanery and injustice. Not alone must it serve and safeguard and maintain its material and its business interests, but it must better protect the weak against the strong, and must serve not only the public domain and the public money and property, but also the manhood and the womanhood and the childhood of the community, which are the best assets of the State.

We saw the changes in the social and economic system which had brought woman into the industrial field required that she should have a vote and a right to participate in the public life of the State which so intimately affected her welfare and the welfare of her children. We realized that we could not by our efforts or in our generation solve the problem of poverty, but we finally came to understand that we could attack it in detail, and accomplish a little of good, and that we could substitute in state government the spirit of social service for the spirit of gain, of graft, and of power.

We believed that we could make the state government not only an agency for conserving wealth and protecting it against theft and violence, but an agency which, by conserving the common good in many directions, could become a valuable servant to every member of the community.

Our first problem, that of restoring the state government to the people, was attacked by removing from every responsible position, every servant of the old regime and filling their places with men whose loyalty was to the people alone. The old Railroad Commission, which had been merely a bureau of the railroads and had never attempted to exercise its powers, was supplanted by a commission composed of a different stamp of men, who, with enlarged powers have regulated the corporation which formerly regulated the State. Through the State Board of Control, through the Civil Service Commission, and through other agencies, the task of making and keeping the state government efficient, economical and responsive to the public interest was completed. By the initiative, referendum and recall, the Australian ballot and direct primary and other such measures the people have been placed in a position to protect themselves in the future against recurring attempts which will be made by groups of corporations and special interests to capture again the government of the State.

The program of social and human legislation was our next step. Through the establishment of workmen's compensation, through woman's suffrage, through child labor laws, through the work of the Industrial Welfare Commission, whose chief endeavor is to establish a minimum wage and decent conditions for women who toil, through the Social Insurance Commission, whose principal task at present is to create a system of health insurance, through the work of the Labor Commissioner, the public employment offices, through which many of the ills and troubles of seasonal, unorganized and unskilled labor have been mitigated, through the Commission of Immigration and Housing, which, cooperating with the Labor Bureau has corrected and is in a way further to correct, the abuses and horrors of labor camps in the country and tenements in the cities, through the radical reform and improvement of reform schools, and penitentiaries, through numerous laws designed to better the conditions under which men and women work, such as the eight-hour law for women, and for underground miners, and the full-train-crew statute, through many other efforts and in many other directions, the State of California, since 1911, has relieved the economic pressure on men, women and children, has helped them to secure a larger share in the products of their toil, and the good things of life, and a more comfortable place in the sun.

The government of the State has been brought more closely home and made more useful to the ordinary citizen who pays the bills by the construction of highways, by the extension of the university, especially in the agricultural department, by the reconstruction and admirable administration of the harbor in San Francisco, by improvements in the school system of the State, by the provision of free textbooks for all pupils, by the efforts to solve the problem of reclamation and flood control, by the work of the State Market Commission and by many other activities of like character.

Supplementing the old laws which protected wealth against poverty, the State now protects poverty against dishonesty and exploitation by the regulation of weights and measures, and by the pure food laws, by the work of the Commissioner of Corporations enforcing the Blue Sky Law, by the Redlight Abatement Act, by the requirement of periodical payment of wages, by the activities of the Bureau of Labor and the Housing and Immigration Commission in the collection of claims of the unfortunate and the needy, and by various other measures designed to guard the ignorant, inexperienced and unfortunate against the crafty and unscrupulous. All these accomplishments, none of them revolutionary, most and indeed, all of them, so successful and satisfactory in operation as to have nearly stilled the voice of opposition, have been steps forward in a consistent endeavor and in a fixed policy, first, to make the government of California democratic, and popular; secondly, to make it honest, efficient and more widely useful to the whole people; and, thirdly, to solve in such measure as is possible to a state government, the problems that spring from poverty and from the conditions of the modern civilized world.

Six years ago, we had a government that was owned and dominated, controlled, directed and manipulated, by a single corporation; today this government belongs to all its people. Six years ago, there was little heed of our humanity, by government. We have now learned that the first obligation and duty of government are to its men and its women and its children. Six years ago, California was one of the most backward states in the nation; today, in its care of humanity and in social and industrial justice, it is the most advanced state where democracy obtains.

This regenerated State, this rejuvenated government, I shall soon leave to you and my successor. I shall leave it with the sorrow and regret that one ever leaves that which, with all that God has given him, he had striven for and fought for and won. I shall, however, lay down my work and rest it within a brief time with you and my successor, with full confidence that you and he will maintain and conserve, protect and preserve, with the same jealousy and the same singleness of purpose, the marvelous advance, achievement and accomplishment of our commonwealth.

THE REGULATION OF PUBLIC UTILITIES AND THE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

The story of the Railroad Commission in striking and startling fashion illustrates the revolution in California's government. Prior to 1879, the system which finally made of our government a pitiless railroad despotism had been developed. In that year, a new Constitution was submitted to the people, providing for a Railroad Commission with regulatory powers. Under the system which had been gradually developed, however, the politics of the State were controlled by one great transportation company, and by the simple expedient of selecting the Railroad Commissioners and making the commission a part of its commercial system, the railroad company rendered nugatory the constitutional provision from which the people had hoped so much. Political organization was perfected by the railroad company, in every part of the State, and under the old convention system this organization was invincible. The government was seized and despotically administered. The political power gave financial dominance and the power was used for commercial pillage. The rebate was a dual instrument of commerce and politics. The pass was a petty bribe to the convention delegate. Upon the industries of the State, upon the produce of the farmer and upon the shipments of the average merchant, there was levied an extortionate toll. The Railroad Commission was but a mockery of the hopes and aspirations of a great people. During one year of its thirty years of existence, prior to 1910, the receipt of a single letter constituted its sole business. The first gleam of sunshine came to our people with the direct primary in 1910. With the opportunity to choose for themselves under a direct primary the people rose in rebellion, changed their public officials and looked forward to the fruition of the promise of the successful candidates to eliminate the corrupt corporate influence from government. And then commenced the period of reconstruction.

The Railroad Commission, under the leadership of the late John M. Eshleman, with his colleagues, Alexander Gordon and H. D. Loveland, backed by all the power of the state administration, wrought an almost unbelievable transformation. Appropriate legislation was passed in 1911, and constitutional amendments submitted to the people at a special election called in October, 1911, at which those amendments were adopted. A special session of the legislature was called that year and at that session a new public utilities act was passed and the Railroad Commission made appointive and enlarged to five. The additional members appointed were Max Thelen and Edwin O. Edgerton. Mr. Eshleman served until January, 1915, with a distinction that has won him the unbounded love of a grateful people, and has given unto him a lasting fame. In his stead Frank R. Devin was appointed.

The change in 1911, with a rejuvenated Railroad Commission, was startling and dramatic. Cynical opposition was met by full determination; thirty years of political dominance by a regenerated public service; the power of entrenched special privilege with the power of a freed people, and the result was not long in doubt. The entire public utility rate schedule of the State of California was reconstructed, discrimination and extortion were eliminated from the business life of the community. The work began with the railroad rates in the San Joaquin Valley and was completed there with a total reduction of $750,000 a year. Then rapidly followed in every section of the State the reduction of excessive rates. Reductions were made only after careful investigations and painstaking hearings and the justice of the reductions was demonstrated by the fact that none of the carriers attacked them in the courts. It would be impossible, within the limits of this message to detail the work that has been done by the Railroad Commission in the investigation and reduction of freight rates in this State, and I must content myself with saying that every section of California—the Imperial Valley, the Owens River Valley, San Pedro and Los Angeles, the mountain territory and the great Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys—indeed, every community and every part of the State, felt its beneficent results. Not only did the commission justly reduce the railroad transportation rates, but after two years of the most scientific investigation reduced Wells Fargo & Company's express rates $750,000 a year and nothing better illustrates the need and the justice of the work that the Railroad Commission is doing than the facts found in the Wells Fargo case. Here, it appeared, that this corporation beginning with a few thousand dollars, from the profits it had been able to take from the people and investments therefrom had declared in one year a dividend of $25,000,000.

Of course, the opposition to the work of the commission was vociferous and bitter, but it was the opposition of what had been a sovereign corporation to what was now a sovereign people, and while that opposition ever will continue, and through its journalistic advocates will ever be just as vociferous and bitter, so long as a sovereign people rule and public servants have no allegiance except to the State, there will be the same triumphant result.

The commission undertook as well a revision of long distance telephone charges and though they lessened those charges by $526,000 a year, the decision was accepted without contest. In like fashion, the rate schedules of the electric and gas companies have been regulated, and by the reductions made nearly 250,000 families have been affected and the annual saving will exceed $1,000,000. Not only have the rates been lowered but the character of the service has been improved through field and laboratory investigations. The utilities had promulgated and enforced for a quarter of a century a peculiar doctrine that their patrons should furnish facilities to the corporations and then pay a return to the corporation upon the property which they had thus given, and so long had this process been successfully pursued, that the corporations had come to regard it as a matter of legal right. It was found, for instance, that as prepayment for services, patrons of California utilities—gas, electric and telephone—had been obliged to deposit the enormous sum of $1,250,000. All this has now been changed.

The procedure of the commission is free from the usual restrictions that govern other judicial tribunals. Its object is to obtain the facts and then reach a just determination. Technicalities are unknown in its processes. It tries from three to four formal cases daily. It conducts its work with a dispatch which contrasts strikingly with the ordinary methods of courts. It keeps apace of its work and its decisions are speedily rendered and so accurately, apparently, that not a single rate revision has been disturbed by the courts.

In its informal, or correspondence department, the commission adjusts an average of ten issues daily. During the last five years it has rendered 4,000 decisions, passed upon 3,300 distinct and formal matters which required the taking of testimony before determination. Its informal adjudications are many thousands. A two-cent stamp, a mere post card, may invoke the aid of the whole force of its organization, and complaints thus informally presented have led to some of the most important investigations and decisions. The general reduction of public utility charges in the State of California reaches an aggregate of $5,000,000 per year.

The cost of life's necessities in the United States rising ever higher has imposed upon every home an additional burden; but in California, we may take a reasonable pride in the protection afforded against rising costs in public utility service. While costs in other fields have mounted higher and higher, the gas and electric and telephone charges here have steadily fallen, and all of this has been accomplished not only without injury to the public utility corporations, but actually to their advantage. Legitimate and solvent public utilities now seek what at first they resented, the approval of the commission of bond issues, financial reorganization and the like. Their securities have an added value when passed upon favorably by the commission. Business legitimately conducted has been materially aided, and the statistics show the great increase in investment of outside capital. The justice of the decisions of the Railroad Commission, the beneficial results of their supervision and control of public utilities are attested by the very representatives of these corporations.

Of course, as in the activities of every human agency, decisions doubtless have been rendered by the Railroad Commission which have not met with universal approbation, but in the multiplicity of its work, the rarity of such instances is remarkable. The commission in its dealings has not alone come in contact with the most powerful influences in the State, but with the most humble as well. No complaint has been too small, no complainant too humble, to have its full attention. No power has been too great to be attacked and regulated when attempting injustice or wrong. It has finally demonstrated that the people of the State of California represented by their duly elected officers, are greater and stronger than any agency within the State, and that all alike must yield to the common good.

STATE BOARD OF CONTROL.

During the past six years California has demonstrated that public business can be conducted as honestly and as efficiently as private business. The natural corollary of the old political system of California, as dimly pictured in the brief description of the Railroad Commission, was a lax, inefficient, and corrupt administration of the business of the commonwealth. It seems incredible now, that prior to 1911 there had not been for many, many years a state audit; that there was no centralized control over the business conducted by the State, no mode of accurately determining the necessity and amount of appropriations, and no supervision which would preclude favoritism in bidding. The despotism of a single transportation corporation, in our government, brought, of course, every ill to which democracy is heir, and with the elimination of that corporation and the return of the government to the people, it was obvious that there must be accomplished not only political reform, but economic and business reform as well.

The legislature of 1911, therefore, passed the law creating the State Board of Control, and gave to that board plenary powers over the business and financial affairs of the State. The board which was first appointed to undertake a task in relation to the business of the State as great as that of the Railroad Commission in reference to the regulation of public utilities consisted of James A. Johnston, John Francis Neylan, and Clyde Seavey. Mr. Johnston was succeeded by Fred C. Nelles, and he in turn by Wm. H. Humphrey and F. H. Bloodgood. Mr. Seavey was succeeded by Paul Herriott.

Investigations at once were held by the board, and corruption and fraud in the business of the State were uncovered. Ruthlessly the old methods were destroyed and the individuals who were guilty were removed from the service of the State. But the great work of the board was to systematize the business of California in such way that it might challenge comparison with the system in vogue in those great business concerns that are models of commercial enterprise. The problem presented was to organize an institution doing a business of approximately $15,000,000 a year in which for a quarter of a century the controlling thought had been the operation of the enterprise for the benefit not of the stockholders, but of a favored few.

The investigations of the Board of Control disclosed that during twenty years preceding 1910, $200,000,000 of the taxpayers' money were expended on the construction and maintenance of state institutions and departments without an audit, that the state law governing the award of contracts was frequently ignored that fraud might be practiced; that many reputable business houses would not do business with the State; that contractors had control of the business of certain departments and institutions, that it was not uncommon to deliver inferior materials where superior were contracted for.

This summary of the results of the investigation by the Board of Control is but a mild statement. The records on file of the investigation of certain institutions, the State Printing Office, and various individuals will disclose conditions of inefficiency and corruption that beggar description, but which were the necessary results of the old political machine methods. The old system has now yielded to the new order. The old log rolling methods, inefficiency, fraud, corruption and political control have been displaced by a budget system, a searching financial supervision, modern business methods, economy and efficiency.

The Board of Control conceived the idea that there should be some method of determining in advance of a legislative session the amount and the necessity for the various appropriations for the state institutions. The system by which the managers or superintendents of state institutions were required to dance attendance during a legislative session, log rolling to obtain the highest possible appropriation, was admittedly an imposition upon the State, and a system distasteful to those who desired to devote themselves wholly to the labors of their particular activities. The Board of Control devised the plan, therefore, of making a budget for each legislature, and although there is no written law upon the subject, by agreement between the board and the Executive, and by understanding with the various institutions, the Board of Control has its hearings in conjunction with the Controller, prior to the session of the legislature, the necessity for appropriations is presented in evidentiary fashion and then judicially determined. When the legislature meets, therefore, it finds the report of this budget and any legislator desiring accurate information has but to inquire of the Board of Control and that accurate information derived from the hearings held is immediately accorded. Under the old system the State's funds were distributed in proportion to the political influence of the applicant; under the budget system, they are distributed in accordance with the needs of the state departments and the merits of the governmental projects.

The pre-audit system put in operation by the Board of Control is substantially the requirement of a monthly budget. The board asks the executive head of each state institution and department to furnish it prior to the twentieth of each month with a certified estimate of the needs of the department or institution for the succeeding month. These estimates are examined in detail, improper or unnecessary purchases eliminated. Where an institution or department needs a supply of that of which another institution or department has a surplus, a transfer is arranged for. And every question regarding expenditures is thus settled in advance and the proper foundation laid for the subsequent audit of claims.

A purchasing department was created. Forty-three state departments and twenty-three state institutions were accustomed to act separately in respect to common needs. All of them, for instance, required fuel oil, yet each entered into a separate contract even at widely varying rates for this essential. The waste involved is plain and the State Purchasing Department was created that purchases might be made by one central organization for all of the departments of the state government.

The provisions of the law governing award of contracts in many instances had been discarded or by reason of favoritism in the awarding of bids had been rendered nugatory. The Board of Control undertook to convince the merchants and business men of California that the law relating to state contracts should be rigidly observed; that there should be fair competition in the business of the State, and no favoritism in its dealings. Communications were addressed to chambers of commerce, business men's organizations and the like, and were skeptically received. Gradually the new order became apparent, even to business men, and many of those who cynically regarded the management of the State's business and who from bitter experience had learned that it was useless to bid for that business, are now regular competitors for contracts with the commonwealth. Twenty times as many firms now bid for the business of the State as formerly and no matter who they are, they receive like treatment. The Board of Control estimates that in the restoration of honest competition alone, no less than $1,000,000 has been saved to the State.

But the enforcement of honesty in awarding of contracts would be futile unless the State obtained what it bargained for. A favorite method of fraud, under the old system, was to take a low bid upon a given article, and then accept an inferior article for the one bid upon. By the confession of a contractor the entire system was exposed to the board. The board, therefore, constituted the pure food and drug laboratory of the University of California the judge of the quality of all food supplies and drugs delivered to state institutions. The assistance rendered by the laboratory has been invaluable. The State now demands full value, and not only demands it, but gets it. No one volume could describe the radical changes that have been made in the conduct of the business of the State. Where before there were waste and extravagance, today there is economy and efficiency; where corruption stalked, honesty now rules; where the State was exploited for the benefit and profit of a few, all of the people now reap the advantage.

The business of the State of California is now conducted upon approved modern lines and conducted as efficiently and as economically as any systematic and scientifically managed private enterprise.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION—INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENT COMMISSION.

The new philosophy of government which has obtained in California had its best and most sharply defined demonstration in the Workmen's Compensation Law. In 1911, we stood at the threshold of a great unexplored governmental field. Behind us were the humiliation and shame of thirty years of exploited government, cynically administered for a few. With hope in democracy renewed by the first experience with the direct primary, with undefined, yet certain knowledge of democracy's obligations, we turned from the old sordid materialism, and looked to the greater promise of activity for humanity itself. We entered falteringly the unexplored field, and then our steps grew firm and our vision broad, and today no commonwealth has gone farther or built better for humanity.

Those who believed that industry should bear the burden of its accidents, that its maimed and its injured should not be cast forever upon the scrap heap of humanity, were tirelessly seeking a legal remedy. It was realized that the frightful burden of accident should not be wholly upon him least able to bear it, but the path to relief through the intricate mazes of the law was difficult to find. The legislature of 1911 adopted an elective law which, though not wholly effective, afforded opportunity for an educational propaganda and a thorough investigation.

The first Industrial Accident Commission, consisting of A. J. Pillsbury, Will J. French and Willis I. Morrison, prepared an elaborate workmen's compensation law which was presented to the legislature in 1913, was duly adopted, and became operative January 1, 1914. While this law was pending and before it had undergone the actual test of administration, it was the center of perhaps the bitterest contest that has been waged over any enactment of recent years. And out of all of the bitterness and abuse and denunciation of that contest may come to you who are now assuming legislative duties, the lesson that must ever be learned by him who would fearlessly represent those who have entrusted him with power. Every day, during the session of 1913, all those newspapers of the State of California which have ever been opposed to any sort of social justice, published page after page, not alone of so-called conservative argument against the "corroding socialism" of the state government, but of the foulest abuse of every individual advocating the law. To public scorn and ridicule and contumely we were held up as "destroyers of industry," "looters of business," "traitors to the State," "arrant demagogues pandering to the worst elements of our citizenship." So hysterically mad became this part of the press that first there was uneasiness and then absolute fear among honest business men, not only as to our intentions, but as to the ultimate result to themselves and their enterprises, from this merciful and humane law. Committees and delegations from different sections of the State waited upon the legislature and upon the Chief Executive, and the disastrous results which would flow from caring for our maimed and our injured were painted in the most lurid colors. The newspaper opponents were as violently abusive as they have ever been in the heat of a political campaign. The law nevertheless passed. Six months after it had been operating, we had the satisfaction of listening to the leaders of labor and the representatives of the largest employers in the State of California, unite in a public gathering in universal praise of the act. Today, employer and employee alike join in commendation. It is only the part of the press that was so malicious and malignant and mendacious during the pendency of the measure before the legislature, that refuses to accord its praise, but even this press is now forced to be silent. No man in public life would have the temerity to suggest the repeal of the Workmen's Compensation Law, and this law has been the vindication and the justification of California's social program.

The administration of the law in January, 1914, was entrusted to A. J. Pillsbury, Will J. French, and Colonel Harris Weinstock. In 1915, Mr. Weinstock resigned, and since then his place has been filled by Meyer Lissner.

It was necessary because of the action of the insurance companies and in order to protect employers, that the State should in connection with compensation to the injured in industry enter the insurance field. This was a socialistic feature at which our opponents stood aghast. In hysterical indignation they cried aloud against the enormity of the State invading a field of private enterprise, and of the inability of the people, through their representatives, to compete, and of the ultimate ruin therefore to the finances of the State. And here is the demonstration that, with the elimination of the invisible government, with an administration by those who owe allegiance only to the people, the State may compete and successfully compete with any semipublic corporate enterprise within the State. On December 31, 1916, the State Compensation Insurance Fund had been in operation three years. It came into competition with about 25 insurance corporations whose agency organizations were well established. The State's insurance business the first year amounted to more than double the anticipated volume and it led its nearest competitor by over $140,000 in premiums. The second year the State increased its lead over its nearest competitor to $250,000, and its volume of business for last year amounted to over $900,000. It is estimated that this will be double the business of any other insurance corporation writing workmen's compensation in California. The business of the fund has been handled, at an expense for management, acquisition, inspection, claim adjustment, and all other items (except actual loss payments) for about one-third of the average ratio of expense of the corporate insurance companies. The average expense ratio of private companies is approximately 45 per cent, while that of the fund has been only 14.47 per cent. This saving in operation costs alone has enabled the fund to declare dividends to policyholders amounting to 15 per cent of the premiums earned in each of the three years. In addition, the fund has accumulated a substantial surplus for protection against catastrophe. Not only is this remarkable showing made by California in the insurance business, but in efficiency of administration, the California department surpasses any privately-owned company. A larger percentage of cases is summarily settled and paid by the state fund than by any of its competitors.

An idea of the work of the commission may be formed from the number of cases reported to it. In 1913, there were reported 67,538 cases of injury of which 523 were deaths, 1,264 permanently injured and 65,741 temporarily injured. Ninety per cent of the claims for compensation were settled without controversy other than such as could be adjusted by correspondence or personal conference. About 10 per cent were filed for determination by the commission. In 1914, there were 628 cases decided by the commission; in 1915, 1,123 and up to December 1, 1916, 1,409. Not only did our act provide for compensation to the injured, but as well for the installation of safety devices for making the places of employment safe to work in. The commission has adopted safety rules and has covered almost all of the industries of the State. Under the inspection work of the commission, the industries of California, with reference to safety, have been practically revolutionized.

In order to preclude the possibility of adverse decisions by the courts, certain provisions of the law will probably have to be reenacted, and the amendments in this regard will be presented to you by the commission.

The commission has done its work well, efficiently and economically. Its record and the universal esteem in which it is held are its highest praise.

THE STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

The act under which the eighteen millions were voted by the people for a system of state highways required the construction to be under the Department of Engineering. This department, already overburdened with state construction, of course could not, without appropriate assistance, undertake the task. It would have been far better could a separate entity have been created to constitute a State Highway Commission, but the legislature was forced in the 1911 session to adopt the cumbersome method of adding three members to the State Advisory Board, and these three members, so far as they could be, were constituted our Highway Commission. The Advisory Board consists of certain ex officio members, the Governor, the State Engineer, the President of the San Francisco Harbor Commission, and the Commissioner of Hospitals and Lunacy. The three additional members as appointed were Charles D. Blancy, N. D. Darlington and Burton A. Towne, and to them was entrusted the construction of our state highway system. On January 14, 1914, Burton A. Towne resigned and Charles Frank Stern was appointed in his stead.

The Highway Commission, by acquiescence of all of the members of the Advisory Board, was thus made practically an independent department of government, the Advisory Board formally approving its acts. The original act of 1909, adopted by the people, was the first essay of the State in highway construction upon a large scale. The framers of the act conceded that the $18,000,000 were wholly insufficient for the construction of 3,300 to 3,500 miles of trunk roads and laterals demanded, but it was deemed, at the time, that a larger sum could not be successfully carried. The California Highway Commission was, at the outset, confronted therefore with an impossible task. In every fashion it conserved the highway fund. It prevailed upon various counties to build the bridges and provide rights of way and the counties responded with generous cooperation. By its contracts for rock, gravel, sand and cement, the commission saved from 25 to 60 per cent. The railroad companies gave the state a special tariff schedule, saving from 30 to 50 per cent in transportation of road material. The concessions received by the commission, it accorded all building contractors and thus in the construction of the highways has effected a saving of from fifteen to twenty-five hundred dollars per mile. The Highway Commission was not more than well upon its way when the world-wide depression in securities occurred and its 4 per cent bonds could not be sold. These bonds were quoted during the period of depression at from 92½ to 95, but the industry and pertinacity of the members of the commission aided by various civic bodies throughout the State, aroused in the various counties an interest in highway construction and finally disposed of more than $13,000,000 of the highway bonds at par to the counties themselves.

California began its highway construction when the science of road building was little understood. Experience had not yet established the best type. Automobile traffic severely tried every theory, and it remained for the California Highway Commission to pioneer the way in the art of road building. At first the determination of the commission of its standard type of road, with a solid concrete base, carpeted with a layer of trap rock screenings and bituminous oil, aroused clamorous opposition, but the commission's decision has been vindicated by the test of actual experience, and there is now practically no division of sentiment as to the best type of construction. California now has more miles of solid concrete base roads than all the eastern states.

In the immense organization required to be perfected to do the most efficient work, civil service was adopted by the Highway Commission, even before the State made it a distinct policy for every department. There is not a surveyor, a draftsman or an axman on the commission's payroll who holds his position save through his personal merit and qualifications. The organization is as efficient as the most highly trained organization of any private corporation.

Briefly stated, the following is a summary of the Highway Commission's work at the end of the present year:

Miles of road surveyed, 2,400.
Miles of highway in system, oiled macadam	185
Miles of highway, concrete pavement	918
Miles of highway, asphalt pavement	53
Miles of highway, graded	388
Total	1,544
Miles of road paved by the counties and taken over and improved and maintained by the state, 156.

Practically 143 grade crossings have been eliminated and about 450 bridges have been built or transferred to the State by the counties of an aggregate value of nearly three and a half millions.

The Highway Commission of California has efficiently and economically expended $18,000,000 without a single scandal and without the slightest suspicion of graft. It has constructed roads that are the admiration of visitors and meet with the enthusiastic approval of our own citizens. No higher encomium could have been bestowed upon this commission than the overwhelming vote recently accorded to the new bond issue of $15,000,000 for the completion of their work.

The esteem in which the Highway Commission and its engineering staff are held was recently most flatteringly shown. The United States government entered upon its new national highway policy. It desired to inaugurate that policy under the most auspicious circumstances. It sought the aid of the most highly trained and successful highway engineers, and finally, after investigation, request was made to the Governor to furlough the chief engineer of the Highway Commission of California, that he might, at Washington, render such assistance as he could to the United States government in the inauguration of its new policy, and upon furlough of the Governor Chief Engineer Fletcher went to Washington and acted with the federal authorities in their new important undertaking.

The chief of road economics of the United States Office of Public Roads recently writing concerning California highways said:

"I have just returned from a thousand-mile tour of California highways, more than 600 miles of which traversed the state system of trunk lines. With due regard for the great work already completed and under way in the eastern states, I predict that the California highway system, now in the making, will be, when completed, the most notable system of highways in America, if not in the world."

The United States Department of Public Roads, in connection with its work under the Federal Aid Road Act, appointed a committee last August to suggest standards for surveys, plans, contracts, specifications, etc., as a model for the several states to follow in the federal aid work. This committee has decided that the standards used by the California Highway Commission for California state highways be recommended, substantially in toto, to the United States Office of Public Roads for adoption by the federal government.

This emphatic approval of California's work requires no comment.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION BY CONVICTS.

A very radical departure from established precedent was made by the legislature when in 1915 it passed the Meek Convict Labor Bill. On the one hand, its enthusiastic advocates insisted upon the beneficial results alike to the State and to the men confined in the prisons, while those opposed most earnestly insisted that no good could come from the measure, and that it would do incalculable harm to free labor. Happily, experience has justified the law.

The sections of proposed highway selected for the convict road camps are of a character, and in locations, which otherwise could not be built with the means available. In Mendocino County the men have been working upon a 33-mile connection through a virgin wilderness difficult of access and of construction, but nevertheless a necessary link in the coast trunk lines. The first camp consisted of 25 with three unarmed guards in control, one acting as captain of the camp and the others as foremen on the work. Gradually the number of men was increased to 40 and then to 60 and there are now in Mendocino County two camps, of 100 men each. The work in Eel River Canyon was started in midwinter and during the first six months the men worked in 72 inches of rain and sleet six days a week, eight hours a day, and worked cheerfully and efficiently.

The camps were built upon specifications of the Immigration and Housing Commission and are as well equipped as any labor camps in the nation. The commissary has been second to none. That the work has been well done is now conceded; that it has been beneficial to the human beings employed upon it, can not admit of doubt. Men have been taken soft from prison and turned into able and efficient units in a real work in which they have come to have a pride. The physical and the mental regeneration of the men in the camps is obvious and apparently with this physical and mental regeneration must come some moral reaction. Aside from the guards, truck drivers and engineers, the entire camp population is convict—convict cooks, waiters, muleteers, blacksmiths, tool men, powder men, cobblers and carpenters. There have been during the past year in the Mendocino camps 329 men. Of these 14 have been returned to prison and their credits forfeited for escaping or attempting to escape. Several attempts at escape were frustrated by the convicts themselves. There are now six escapes at large. The law has been a most beneficent and merciful one from a humanitarian standpoint.

The economic side seems to have been as conclusively demonstrated. The engineer's net estimate for the 33-mile section in Mendocino County varied from $346,000 to $365,000. In the work done by the convicts every item of expense has been charged to the job, including $11,000 for equipment. It has cost $13459 per man per day. In the twelve months the convicts have worked in Mendocino County approximately 195,000 cubic yards of excavation, averaging 51 per cent rock, have been moved. The two camps in that county average seven cubic yards and six and six-tenths cubic yards per man per day, respectively. On this basis the work has cost the Highway Commission 43.34 cents per cubic yard, or a minimum saving on yardage of about $36,000. It is expected that in the summer of 1917 the link of the coast highway will have been completed by twenty months of convict labor at a cost of approximately $200,000, and that this link will then finally open the coast highway two years earlier than would have otherwise been possible.

Not alone has this work been done in Mendocino County but as well in the other mountain counties of the State and with equally good results. More than 400 men from the prisons have been at work upon the roads of California in the most inaccessible parts of our territory. The work has been done efficiently and economically. Free labor has not been injured or imperiled and those who are answering to the State for their infractions of the law, in the sunshine and open air, mentally and physically have been regenerated.

STATE CORPORATION DEPARTMENT—BLUE SKY COMMISSIONER

Only less vehement, but of like character to the opposition to the Railroad Commission and the Workmen's Compensation Law was the denunciation of what is commonly called the Blue Sky Law. Because of wildcat mining schemes, exploiting promotion conspiracies and the attempts which have been so common to exploit the public in fraudulent investments, there was presented to the legislature in 1913, the act establishing the State Corporation Department, under which the Blue Sky Commissioner is now operating. From exactly the same sources with which we have become familiar in six years of progressive government, from exactly the same newspapers that had cried we were hurting business, came the same malignant assaults upon the proposed law and its advocates. Indeed, during the pendency of the act, in the city of Los Angeles, a publication was devoted exclusively to its denunciation and denunciation of every individual in the administration. Some of those who maintained the publication, it subsequently developed were engaged in just the sort of enterprise the Blue Sky Law was intended to prevent,—an enterprise which subsequently failed and involved in ruin many innocent persons, and an enterprise which never could have endured had there been a Blue Sky Law in California. Of course, it was a natural sequence that those engaged in that enterprise should be bitterly hostile to the law and bitterly hostile to the present administration. After the law was passed, by the legislature, a referendum was taken upon it by parties interested in preventing supervision by the State, but upon submission to the people the law was upheld, and H. L. Carnahan was appointed the first commissioner. The commissioner had a complex, a difficult and an arduous task. He was the pioneer in an entirely new governmental policy—a policy designed to eliminate fraud, shackle trickery and promote legitimate business. Attacks upon the law had rendered legitimate business restless and fearful, and the commissioner was confronted with the necessity of administering a drastic statute, separating the good and the evil enterprises, and winning the confidence of legitimate business, while absolutely eliminating doubtful or fraudulent speculation. Just as did all the humanitarian legislation of this decade, the Blue Sky Law, after a year's administration by Commissioner Carnahan, won the respect and confidence and the enthusiastic praise of every legitimate and honest business man. Through the operation of the law, it is true, the State has lost corporate enterprises from which other states are now suffering. On the other hand California has gained investments which have organized as California corporations because of the protection afforded their business reputation and standing. Just as stocks and bonds of utilities approved by the Railroad Commission have been more salable and brought higher values because of the approval of that commission, so the stocks and bonds of California corporations that have been issued and sold under the supervision of the Corporation Commissioner have almost uniformly found a readier market than other securities, not only in California, but elsewhere.

It is not the purpose of the law, nor has the State attempted to remove the ordinary hazard of business, nor to limit the right of the public to engage in speculative enterprises, so long as they are fairly conceived and honestly conducted. In authorizing the issuance of securities the State does not, and manifestly can not, determine whether the project will certainly succeed, but the State does insist that the prospective investor shall be fairly and accurately informed of the character of his investment, and that the money which he invests shall be actually put to work for him, and not diverted into the pockets of the promoter, and that an honest effort will be made to develop the project along practical business lines.

The scope of the activities of the department may be gathered from the fact that more than 20,000 corporations in California are subject to its supervision in the issuance of their stocks and bonds and other securities. In the past two years, more than 2,400 corporations have been permitted to issue or offer for sale approximately 100,000,000 shares of stock at an authorized selling price of approximately $300,000,000 and bonds of the face value of approximately $70,000,000. In the same period the department has eliminated from the markets of the State worthless or fraudulent securities of the aggregate par value of approximately $25,000,000. This has been accomplished in some cases by denying authority to applicants, in others through the abandonment of their applications because of their reluctance to furnish essential information or to conform to reasonable conditions, deemed necessary for the protection of the public.

In addition, securities representing par values of more than $40,000,000 issued for promotion services or in exchange for other unproven and intangible values, have been tied up in escrow and withheld from resale except under the supervision of the department.

Commissions on sale of stocks which not infrequently ran from 40 to 60 per cent or more of the gross selling price, have been limited to reasonable percentages approximating the actual selling cost.

The department through its control over the agents of corporations selling securities is weeding out the crooked salesmen who have knowingly shared with their employers' misrepresentation in the sale of securities. Fraudulent and deceptive advertising, promising tremendous returns, made to trap the unwary, have been largely eliminated from the public prints. Every investor in corporate enterprise under the supervision of the department, now has a place to which he may appeal for disinterested and authentic information regarding the affairs of the company in which he is interested. The department is not alone a protection to the investor, but is a bureau of service to the corporation and to the public as well.

Its knowledge gained from its daily contact with every conceivable mode of conducting business enables it to advise those who seek the most advantageous way to conduct legitimate enterprise.

The cost of operation of the department for the period of two years has been approximately $67,000. Of this, the corporations authorized to sell securities have contributed in the form of fees, approximately $40,000. The aggregate sum of these fees represents a little more than one-ten-thousandth part of the securities authorized to be issued.

The Blue Sky Law has been an unqualified success. The success, however, has been made possible because of its painstaking, careful, discriminating, able, judicial and brilliant administration by Commissioner H. L. Carnahan.

INDUSTRIAL WELFARE COMMISSION

The Industrial Welfare Commission, popularly known as the Minimum Wage Commission, was established by act of the legislature of 1913 for the purpose after thorough investigation of the women-employing industries of the State to fix, if needed, minimum time and piece rates to supply the cost of proper living, the maximum hours of work consistent with the health and welfare of women and the standard conditions of industry for their health and comfort.

In September, 1913, the first commission was appointed consisting of Judge Frank J. Murasky, A. Bonheim, A. B. C. Dohrmann, Walter G. Mathewson and Katherine Philips Edson. The commission at once appreciated the nature of its work in pioneering minimum wage legislation and proceeded with the utmost care and caution. The personnel of the commission, the cautious and painstaking method in which they approached a new complex subject, evidenced not only the importance of their problem, but was the guarantee of the justice of their conclusions.

It was felt that California presented an ideal laboratory for this industrial experiment. Its citizenship boasted as unexcelled, was committed to a program of social and industrial justice. An eight hour law for women violently opposed at first but finally approved by all, was already in successful operation. By overwhelming majorities every advance in humanitarian legislation had been endorsed and approved. But the commission mindful of its pioneering work in endeavoring to provide a living wage for women workers by legislative action wished its results to stand not only the test of local experience, but to point the way for accomplishment in more complex industrial communities. Therefore, scientific and careful investigations were made that there should be no injustice to employers and that the act should not by curtailing expansion of business defeat its very purpose. The commission followed, therefore, the plan of close cooperation with the industries of the State and it may be said that the conclusions of the commission are acquiesced in generally by these industries.

The investigation of 1914 and 1915 in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, Sacramento and San Diego, while showing that conditions in California and wages paid were infinitely better than those in congested industrial centers, revealed an abnormal number of women in all trades, with wages below what would be considered a living wage. The mercantile and laundry industries, in detail, were investigated, and these included about 63 per cent of the workingwomen of the State exclusive of the canning industry and domestic service. A large percentage of the women thus working were found to receive less than $9.00 per week, the sum acknowledged as the lowest wage that should be accorded a self-dependent woman.

The canners of the State cooperated with the commission, in keeping records during 1914 of the number of women employed, their hours of work and earnings. This was supplemented in 1915 by an investigation by the commission of working conditions, sanitary conveniences, etc. Because of the close contact between the industries and the commission, when the Wages Board called under the law in 1916 met, the fear of regulation had been removed from the minds of employers and confidence in the commission had been firmly established.

In January, 1916, the first Wages Board in the fruit and vegetable canning industry met, consisting of R. I. Bentley, A. G. Griffin, E. H. Kennedy, representing the employers, and Mrs. Isabel Schmitz, Miss Jennie Balestrieri and Miss Erma Corey, representing the employees, and Katherine Philips Edson, representing the commission. After three days of conference and study, this Wages Board reported unanimously on piece and time rates for the preparation and canning of five products which approximate 85 per cent of the State's total output of fruit and vegetables. The State's output of canned fruit and vegetables was estimated to be worth $21,000,000 in 1914 and fully 20,000 women are employed in this work during the brief season. The Wages Board refused to consider the question of limitation of hours of labor in the industry and it was referred to the commission with no recommendations. The commission, with the State Board of Health, submitted to the Wages Board a tentative draft of rules governing sanitary conditions of the factories and toilet accommodations. These were also unanimously recommended by the Wages Board.

In February, 1916, after the Wages Board report, the commission issued its Orders Nos. 1 and 2 in the fruit and vegetable canning industry, fixing the rates of wages to be paid women therein and providing for sanitary conditions, and the wages thus fixed constitute the minimum wage in these industries. To the credit of the employers engaged in the industry the minimum wage fixed has been accepted. Not alone has thus been provided to the women an increase in wage rates, but the commission eliminated in large degree what has been a great evil in many canneries—that is, the wasteful use of women's time by which they were kept waiting for hours for fruit or cans that had been delayed because of careless management.

The manager of one of the largest canneries in the State has publicly stated that although hostile to such regulatory legislation under the orders of the commission, he has put up the largest pack of fruit with the least overhead expense in his experience, and that the regulation by the commission has been of benefit to the owners as well as to the women employed.

An exhaustive survey of the garment industry disclosed the fact that the depression of wages in California in that industry is largely due to the presence in this State of great quantities of garments made by prison labor in our middle western and eastern prisons and reformatories. The only hope therefore for providing a decent living wage for women in the garment trades is by federal action.

The commission believes that the most important development of their work has been the demonstration that bodies such as theirs can work in cooperation with the industries affected, and that just results can be attained by this common effort. In the spirit of mutual understanding the commission has developed, labor and capital, with appropriate activity by the State, may solve many future industrial problems. California has tried now through this commission the experiment of artificially building a bulwark against low wages and their attendant horrors, and the results have not only been merciful, humane and beneficial, but have pointed the way in a new humanitarian endeavor.

THE IMMIGRATION AND HOUSING COMMISSION

The Immigration and Housing Commission illustrates the underlying principle of the governmental movement inaugurated in California—preparedness for the future or adaptation of governmental institutions to meet the new and changing needs of humanity. In 1912, to meet the problems which it was expected would arise as the result of the influx of European immigrants to the Pacific Coast through the Panama Canal, a temporary commission, without appropriation, to investigate and report was appointed. This was the first step in the endeavor to establish a constructive immigration policy in any state. The commission appointed conducted a thorough investigation and recommended the creation of a permanent state department of immigration to develop and put into operation a state program for the proper and real Americanization of immigrants.

The legislature of 1913 created the Commission of Immigration and Housing. It was given certain powers to inspect and improve housing conditions because it was recognized that the two problems of immigration and housing were intimately connected. This commission consists of five non-salaried commissioners, Simon J. Lubin, Archbishop Hanna, Mrs. Frank A. Gibson, Dr. J. H. McBride, and Paul Schartenberg. The commission in preparing its act which was passed by the legislature, was careful to prescribe that it should not do what the so-called immigration departments of other states did exclusively—merely advertise and boost the real estate business of the state indiscriminately. It provided for a human institution that would look after the human element of our immigration.

The commission was appointed in September, 1913, and began its work in December of that year. In the three years that have ensued it has been the pioneer in blazing the trail for a constructive immigration policy. It undertook first the cleaning up of the thousands of labor camps in the state. It found that substantially half of the workers in these camps were immigrants. A sanitary engineer was employed, and a complete handbook for the erection and maintenance of model labor camps was prepared and published, and inspectors were sent out to educate employers to the real and even the mercenary advantages of providing sanitary camps for their workers. The handbook or pamphlet has been officially adopted by the United States and Canadian Forestry Service and by many state sanitary departments. It provided such simple methods that it appealed to employers, and the commission has been able to bring about an almost miraculous improvement in the living conditions of the thousands of migratory workers in California. Up to this time 1,850 different labor camps have been inspected and 1,170 of these re-inspected, showing marked improvement in nearly 73 per cent of the camps. The population of these camps was 115,774.

In addition to the sanitary improvements, statistics have been gathered showing the number of women and children residing in the camps, and the school authorities have been enabled thereby to compel the attendance of the children or establish schools for their benefit. The extent of illiteracy has also been reported, the number of immigrants who have not learned English or become citizens has been determined, and steps taken to establish correspondence schools to bring about their Americanization, and the padrone system of labor control by which the ignorant foreigner has been exploited, has been very greatly decreased.

The commission commenced, as well, a campaign to improve housing conditions in cities and intensive surveys were made of all of the larger cities of our State. An educational propaganda followed, resulting in vast improvement in housing conditions in these localities.

Upon the invitation of the commission fourteen of the largest cities of the State were asked to send trained building experts and health or housing officials to a series of meetings with representatives of real estate boards, hotelmen's associations, architectural societies, etc., to study carefully the housing problems, and work out scientifically uniform laws. The various cities and organizations responded to this appeal and five meetings have been held devoted to the careful scientific study of the problem, and the result of the labors of these conferences will be submitted to the legislature. In addition, the commission has encouraged and vitalized the movement for city planning.

It was the commission's design to get in personal touch with the immigrant and for that reason it established a complaint and information department to which immigrants could come for advice and information or with their complaints of exploitation or imposition. Posters printed in twelve different languages were scattered throughout the state advising immigrants of this opportunity. The department has been in charge of trained investigators who have heard thousands of complaints of migratory and resident immigrant laborers. The commission has investigated fraudulent schemes affecting immigrants and in some sixty cases has instituted criminal proceedings. These prosecutions have discouraged the previous exploiters of immigrants and have stimulated local officials. Some 9,000 immigrants have applied to the commission for remedy of real or apparent wrongs and the commission has collected for them some $18,000 in claims. The commission, in considering the cases that have come to the complaint department, became convinced that the primary cause of the difficulties of the immigrant lay in his inability to speak the language and his general ignorance of our laws and customs. For two years a campaign has been waged to stimulate and develop the education of adult immigrants in citizenship. The commission has brought about the establishment of evening classes for immigrants in some sixteen communities.

The State is indebted for a most complete report on the subject of unemployment furnished by the Immigration Commission in December, 1914, and also for the relief work for the destitute unemployed in this State undertaken by the commission during that time.

The most recent work of the commission is the establishment of a land information bureau. Some 600 cases of immigrant colonists and settlers who had been defrauded in the purchase of agricultural lands came to the attention of the commission and it was learned that the intending settlers were unable in most instances to obtain reliable information concerning land and its agricultural values. The commissioners now, by reason of cooperation with the extension department of the State University Agricultural College and the federal agricultural department, are able to give general information concerning different districts of the State to the immigrant applying.

Because of the European war the influx of immigration has not been as great as was contemplated, but the statistics demonstrate that even now California is third or fourth among the states in its number of immigrants. Whatever may be in store for us in the future, we may feel that through the Immigration and Housing Commission, California is the first and only state prepared with a program and the machinery to carry out that program, for the assimilation and Americanization of those who come to us from foreign shores.

SOCIAL INSURANCE COMMISSION.

The Workmen's Compensation law, providing insurance against injuries to workmen, was a long and an important step in the solution of the problem of destitution among wage earners; but there yet remains a large field uncovered by compensation of industrial injuries. The larger held yet uncovered has been recognized in European countries, where measurably the remedy has been provided, and the states of our own nation have come to understand the extraordinary importance of the problem. In the advance California has made, it was but the logical sequence that the question of social insurance should arise, and that there might be adequate data upon which to predicate action, the legislature in 1913 provided for the appointment of a commission for investigation and recommendations. This commission was handicapped by an insufficient appropriation and in 1915 the law was reenacted and the present Social Insurance Commission of California, consisting of Paul Herriott, Frances A. Noel, George H. Dunlop, Miss Katherine C. Felton and Dr. Flora W. Smith, duly appointed.

The commission early reached the conclusion that the incorporation of a complete system of social insurance would be wholly impracticable, and they decided therefore to concentrate upon health insurance alone. This was but an attack from another angle upon the great human problem. Industrial accident insurance tided over the period of injury of him who was hurt at his toil. Health insurance sought to tide over the period of adversity of him who by illness was made jobless and deprived of his income. The commission has made a complete study of all forms of social insurance and in the report submitted to the legislature it presents a digest of all the European systems with their effect upon the people of their countries. A greater part of the activities of the commission, however, has been devoted to an intensive survey of actual conditions under which wage earners live in California. Through its agents and public hearings, the commission has gathered complete evidence of the loss occasioned by sickness among wage earners and their dependents, and the practicability of social insurance as a remedy; and those investigations in detail are set forth in the commission's very elaborate report.

The commission after its painstaking investigation recommends that California should extend its activities in the field of social insurance to a system of health insurance. It insists that if health insurance were established its benefit would be conferred upon approximately three-fourths of a million wage earners and their families, and while admitting that the immediate cost would be great, it asserts that ultimately the entire cost would be absorbed in the economic readjustment and leave a large margin of economic gain.

Dr. I. M. Rubinow, of New York City, perhaps the ablest leader of the social insurance movement, has been in the employment of the commission as its expert. He has drafted for the commission complete estimates of the cost of a system of health insurance in California, and those estimates are submitted to the legislature.

I believe in health insurance, and that ultimately it will be established in our nation, and this within a brief period. If the state is to engage in this activity, however, the initial cost is so great that it ought not to be undertaken by direct appropriation by the legislature. The field is so vast and the cost so excessive that before embarking upon this new policy we should have the sanction of all of our people. This, I understand, is the program outlined by the commission, and in pursuance of it the commission will doubtless present to the legislature a constitutional amendment for submission to the entire electorate of the state at the general election in 1918.

STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT.

The history of the State Banking Department from February 21, 1911, is the story of an effort to correct insidious evils that afflicted the affairs of state banks to establish principles of governmental discipline in the activities of these institutions; to revise the bank act into a statute that would have capacity to restore to bankers a reelected liberty of action not in discord with established laws of safety, and primarily to determine the character of every banking unit in the state system as far as that character can be expressed in terms of solvency. With this endeavor has come accomplishment. Banks under state jurisdiction have been relieved from the whims of special privilege; they have adjusted their resources to a plane of absolute safety; they are prosperous under the administration of a law which is construed equally and soundly.

In the endeavor to make banks and bankers understand that the first duty of the state is to guard depositors, there has not been, of course, complete success. Gradually the lesson has been inculcated until today many who formerly resented interference by the state recognize not alone the right in the interest of the depositors, but the beneficent results as well to the banks. A minority, however, yet resent any interference by the State or any suggestion of regulation or improvement of methods, but happily this minority is constantly dwindling.

In the last few years, the bank act, in many important parts, has been amended and these amendments suggested in cooperation by bankers and the bank commissioner, have proved in general of vast advantage. The bankers themselves first suggested critical examination and drastic regulation by the state, but there were some among these bankers who meant by this, only drastic regulation and critical examination of their rivals in business and when specifically the provisions of the law were applied to them their indignation and resentment knew no bounds. The present bank superintendent has done just what has been done in every other department of government in the state—he has eliminated special privilege and he has administered the law under his jurisdiction firmly and justly, equally and without discrimination. No bank has been too small to escape the provisions of the law and none has been so powerful or so rich as to evade its responsibilities. With all alike, the law has been enforced.

The result of an equal and drastic enforcement of the law, while not satisfactory to those who deem themselves entitled to special privilege, has been to create an unprecedented degree of confidence in our financial institutions, and to place the banks of the state upon a sounder and better basis and to render them more prosperous. At the commencement of the term of office of Bank Commissioner Williams, the aggregate assets of state banks was $586,101,030, and the aggregate now is $835,718,403. Individual deposits at the commencement of his term of office amounted to $465,808,000 and now to $694,267,000. There are now in the savings banks of California more than half a billion of deposits, an increase during the past six years of $194,000,000. Six years ago the aggregate of loans and discounts in the banks under state jurisdiction was $365,000,000, at the present time there are $498,000,000.

During the progress of the immense labor of reform among the banking institutions of the State not a bank in the State's system has failed. In the first few months of the new administration three institutions were closed because of inherited infirmities, two other banks were compelled to liquidate but their depositors were paid in full. The solvency and standing at present of state banks, the fact that no state bank has closed its doors since December, 1913, are the demonstration of the efficiency of a just and impartial drastic administration of the law and the lasting tribute to the bank superintendent.

STATE PRISONS.

The prisons in the last few years have reflected the rejuvenated government of the State and our penitentiaries have been administered like our other departments of government, as instrumentalities not alone to protect society but to serve even the lowest and most helpless of humanity. The prison policy that prevails today is one of strict discipline and training but without harshness or cruelty. The prison directors and the wardens believe that they can contribute most to the lessening of crime by managing our prisons in such a manner that they may cure crime instead of being listed as one of its causes. The endeavor is made to supplant sickness with health, ignorance with knowledge, indolence with industry, and despair with hope.

In 1911, the "hooks" and "doors," the strait-jacket, the water torture and corporal punishment were all in vogue. Today there is no form of corporal punishment in our prisons. Notwithstanding the dire predictions that were made when corporal punishment was abolished, its abolition has changed the atmosphere of our penal institutions and discipline today is better in both state prisons than it was when every kind of physical torture was permitted.

Both prisons now study the individual. The newcomer is immediately given a physical examination. Physical defects are noted and corrected where possible. A tuberculosis ward is set apart particularly for those infected. Wassermann blood tests are taken. The physician, oculist, and the dentist in turn examine and prescribe. Thereafter the educational director attempts to obtain the mental measure and moral status of the prisoner. If illiterate, he is assigned to school. Men of mature years are placed in night schools. Classes are graded, supervised by an educational director and state textbooks are employed. Correspondence courses and special classes have been formed. Once a week a professor from the University of California by lecture supplements the classroom work. One thousand four hundred forty-two men in San Quentin now are engaged in educational classes and a like proportion in Folsom. Under the state use system articles are manufactured for other state institutions and work at trades thus afforded for idle hands.

The parole law has been liberally administered by the prison directors, and though much has been heard about an undue liberality in this regard the statistics demonstrate the parole has been a source of infinite good. During the last five years 77 per cent of the prisoners paroled have made good—that is, they obey all the rules laid down for them when parole is granted, refrain from crime, serve their terms creditably until they secure final discharge; 23 per cent failed, but of this 23 per cent that have failed only 5 per cent were returned for committing new crimes while on parole. The other 18 per cent are merely weak and have failed because they quit their jobs or have not reported or in some other way violated the conditions of their ticket of leave.

In proportion to our total prison population, we have a smaller percentage of recidivists than we had ten years or twenty years ago, when our prisoners had few privileges and were subjected to all kinds of painful and humiliating punishment.

I quote for your earnest consideration from a recent report to me by Warden Jas. A. Johnston:

"The ominous thing that I find about the figures regarding prison population showing decrease in the number of repeaters, is that, since the prison populations all over the country are on the increase, the same set of figures that show decrease in repeaters necessarily show an increase in the number of first timers; and the causes for that alarming condition are not in the prisons, but on the outside.

"If it be true that the reduction in the number of recidivists can be traced to sane and humane system of management of prisons, to disciplinary measures, to health-building, mental and moral training and trade teaching, then it would seem that the same or similar measures applied before crime was committed would reduce the amount of crime and the number of first timers. While it might be highly creditable to the prison directors and wardens to be able to show that the number of repeaters was decreasing in proportion to the entire prison population—and indeed that is all that can be reasonably expected of prison management—it is not to the credit of society that the number of first timers is increasing.

"I have an idea that there is plenty of room for prison reform outside the prisons, and that more attention should be given to preventive measures, such as medical and dental inspection in the schools, education that really fits for citizenship, vocational training, serious attention to the question of unemployment, strict regulation and control of the sale of firearms; war on the habit-forming drugs and excessive use of alcohol; and recognition of the fact that youth is the time of lawlessness; that criminal tendencies usually assert themselves early in life and should be checked early by proper training at home, in school and in the church. All this is an important part in any plan of social insurance.

"In thinking of preventive measures, I see all around here at the prison evidence of the youthfulness of prisoners. Looking up the figures, I find that with a population of 2,390, over half, or more than 1,200, are under 30 years of age; 600 are under 25 years, and 300 are under 21. From these figures it is evident that in its very essence the crime problem is a boy problem, and I can not help but think that if we can arouse the fathers and mothers and the teachers and preachers to the necessity of giving earnest attention to the boy problem, we shall have gone far toward a solution of the crime problem."

Under the direction and control of the Prison Directors, Charles L. Neumiller, Judge C. E. McLaughlin, Henry Eickhoff, B. B. Meek and Charles Sonntag, and the management of Wardens J. J. Smith and James A. Johnston, the penitentiaries of California in a modern, enlightened spirit, are more ably conducted, both from the standpoint of the exactions of the law and the care of those confined than any penal institutions in the nation.

REFORM SCHOOLS.

In the two reform schools of the state, at Ione and Whittier, where there are approximately 600 boys, the new conscience of the public service and the new philosophy of government have replaced the old mode of beating, of physical torture, of welding rings of iron about the ankles of recalcitrant boys, and of regarding them as hopeless and incurable, with the new viewpoint, that these boys are a child problem and that the child is the paramount concern.

The superintendents of Whittier and Ione, Fred C. Nelles, and Calvin A. Derrick, have not only wrought wonders in the discipline and the care and reform of the boys entrusted to their care, but have become as well nation-wide authorities in the problem presented by erring youth.

Just as in the prisons of the state, there is a new atmosphere in the reformatories, a new attitude, and, at last, hope in those confined.

LABOR BUREAU.

The Labor Bureau of the State of California was established in 1883, but it is only within the last five years that it has been transmuted from an unknown and useless institution into a useful and important department of the State. The bureau has come to be looked upon as the poor man's court, where the unfortunate toiler without means may secure speedy redress, and it has served, too, as an effective medium in the adjustment of irritating disputes that arise in the industrial field. During the past year free public employment bureaus in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland and Sacramento have been established. In nine months these bureaus have obtained positions for 38,000 persons without cost to them. The State, although it has but four offices, is now doing about one-fourth of the business done by all the private agencies in the commonwealth. The vicious practices formerly perpetrated by private agencies have been eliminated. The bureau in acting as a poor man's court has, in the past five years, undertaken the collection of 32,000 claims and has succeeded in collecting more than $504,000. During the past year 10,000 claims were handled and $179,000 in wages collected.

The payment of wages to those employed in seasonal labor has been supervised by the bureau, and the examiners of the bureau have secured to employees sent each season to work in the salmon canneries of Alaska over $250,000 annually for the past four years. In former years these unfortunate seasonal toilers were fleeced out of the major part of their earnings.

The labor laws of the State, particularly those relating to women and children, have been enforced by the bureau. During the past five years the bureau has investigated 41,000 complaints for violation of the labor laws.

The Labor Bureau, from a mere resting place for a politician, has been developed under Labor Commissioner McLaughlin into a department of the greatest importance. It is the court of the penniless, the haven of the poor, the refuge of the helpless.

WATER COMMISSION.

At the 1913 session, the present Water Commission law was enacted, but private individuals who had appropriated much of the water of the State subjected the act to a referendum and at the general election in 1914, the people approved it. A commission thereupon was appointed, consisting of W. A. Johnstone, A. E. Chandler and Irving Martin.

The design of those who first proposed the Water Commission Act was to render definite and certain just appropriations of waters, to determine the rights of contending appropriators, and to conserve the waters of the State, and generally, to act as a tribunal for the solution of water problems. Prior to the adoption of the present law, water rights by appropriation were acquired upon posting of a notice of appropriation stating the source of supply, the amount of water claimed, the means of diversion and the purpose and place of use. After posting, a notice was required to be recorded in the office of the county recorder, work to be commenced within sixty days from that date and prosecuted with due diligence to completion. If the various requirements were carried out, the right dated from the posting of the notice. There was no supervising authority, or governing official, who was to determine whether or not the provisions of the law were met. Such a system when applied to so valuable a resource as the water supply of the State of California, readily lent itself to fraud and injustice. Because of the looseness of the system, water rights in California are badly tangled. The unraveling of the tangle will be a slow and tedious process, but one upon which the State through the Water Commission has finally commenced.

In the first seventeen months of its operation, the commission has received 531 applications on which 172 permits have been issued.

In various important investigations of the waters of the State, the commission is now engaged. Some of those investigations are undertaken in connection with the authorities of the United States government. The commission has collected filings on all streams of the State and has now at its central office the appropriate data. The commission believes that the act fails in furnishing the necessary machinery to accomplish its full purpose, and has presented to the legislature certain amendments. It seeks to render effective the design of the law that it adjudicate the rights of all parties on a stream system and to carry out the full intent of the framers of the act, the commission believes that it should have power of supervision of the distribution of the waters of the State to those who are lawfully entitled to their use. The present act provides for supervision, but fails to give the necessary machinery.

With the amendments proposed, and with the work thus far accomplished, the Water Commission of California will be able to determine and give stability to the just claims of appropriators, and will as well conserve and foster and protect the waters of our state—a resource of most potential possibilities.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The rapidly growing educational needs of the State, the marvelous increase in the number of our school children, made it impossible for the old ex officio State Board of Education efficiently to deal with the public school system. A constitutional amendment was passed in 1912 authorizing the legislature to provide for a state board and in 1913, an act was duly passed directing the Governor to appoint a board to consist of seven members. The first board, under the new law, consisted of W. H. Langdon, Mrs. O. Shepard Barnum, George W. Stone, E. P. Clarke, Mrs. Agnes Ray, L. E. Chenoweth and Charles Frank Stern.

In 1914 Mr. Chenoweth resigned and was succeeded by Mr. Chas. A. Whitmore, and Mr. Stern by Mr. Marshall De Motte. In 1915 Mr. Langdon resigned and Mr. M. B. Harris was appointed in his place.

This board was designed to represent the people generally rather than the profession of teaching, and therefore its members were prohibited during their term of office from holding any salaried educational position. The board was directed to appoint three salaried commissioners, one experienced in the field of elementary education, one in the field of secondary education, and the other in vocational education. These commissioners were immediately selected and the greater efficiency thus obtained by the new State Board of Education and its representatives is generally recognized. Educational policies have been definitely shaped and the admitted progress of the last three years is due to the new system.

No state has been more generous than California to its educational institutions. More than 5,000 schools of various kinds and grades are maintained, and in 1915-16 the State expended for public education approximately $12 per capita of population.

Since 1910, the enrollment in the elementary schools has increased 32 per cent, in the kindergarten 200 per cent, in the high schools 147 per cent, normals 111 per cent. The growth of the kindergarten is due to the act of 1911, requiring the establishment of a kindergarten class upon petition of the parents of 25 or more children of kindergarten age.

The elementary school, of course, is regarded as the common school, enrolling practically all children between the ages of six and fifteen years. In recent years, the age of compulsory education has been raised from fourteen to fifteen years. The child labor law has been amended to prohibit the employment of children under fifteen years and higher standards of qualification for teaching have been required.

It was the design of progressivism in California that elementary education should be free in the fullest sense, and in 1912, a constitutional amendment was submitted to our people providing for furnishing textbooks free to the pupils. The amendment was adopted, and since then, in the elementary schools, textbooks have been distributed to the pupils. During the biennial period this distribution amounted to 948,829, and the total expense to the state was $172,422.10.

The endeavor has been made to make the high schools not only preparatory schools for the university, but for the community as well. Vocational courses and branches have been introduced and fostered.

The schoolhouse, in 1913, by act of the legislature, was made the center of neighborhood democracy. Under this law, the people were given the privilege of using their property not only for educational purposes, but for public discussion, instruction, and entertainment. This, with other incentives, has resulted in the organization of hundreds of civic centers and parent-teachers clubs, with a membership of many thousands.

The courses of study in normal schools have been standardized and those institutions have been brought into closer relation to one another and to the elementary and high schools.

Upon the suggestion of Mrs. Mary A. Gibson, of the Immigration and Housing Commission, a law was duly passed authorizing the employment of home teachers to visit the homes of foreigners, to instruct mothers in English, sanitation, and household duties.

Among the important policies suggested and adopted by the legislature was that of the Teachers' Retirement Salary, thus providing for the payment of a salary of $500 per annum to each teacher after 30 years of service in the public schools. This fund has been successfully administered by the State board.

California, with a generosity nowhere surpassed, has recognized that the public school system is of the very essence of our democracy.

STATE MARKET DIRECTOR.

At the last session of the legislature an act was passed creating a State Commission Market, with an appropriation of $25,000 and authorizing the appointment of a State Market Director. The measure duly became a law. It provided not alone for the appointment of Market Director but for the establishment in any and all cities and towns of the State, of depots and stations to be used as State markets for the receiving, care, sale and distribution of the farm products of California. It seemed obvious to me that in the hands of an inexperienced man or under the management of a well-meaning enthusiast alone, we might readily involve the state in very serious disaster. Because he united every qualification in marked degree, I finally tendered the appointment to Harris Weinstock, and he accepted.

The view of Mr. Weinstock was that it was imperative that the State should come to the relief of the farmer, by organizing producers into marketing associations, and assisting them in marketing their products, but that the State should not engage in the actual business of selling by commission or otherwise; that the State Market Director could be of very great service to the farm producers of California by performing the function of a market advisor; that individually, the average farmer is helpless to better his marketing conditions, but that collectively he could accomplish great results in minimizing waste in the cost of distribution and in broadening and widening his markets so that collective bargaining could take the place of individual bargaining, thus making it more nearly possible for the farm producers to get the value of their products, and also more possible to minimize waste and expense of distribution for the benefit of the consumer.

The Market Director pointed out as well that even if it were desirable and practicable to establish State markets in every city and town in California, the appropriation of $25,000 was hopelessly inadequate and such an effort, under the conditions, would result only in failure.

The task undertaken by the State Market Director is a herculean one, but with remarkable energy he has been engaged in organizing the farmers of the State into strong and effective marketing associations. In the very brief period since his appointment, he has assisted in the organization of the California peach growers, and the necessity for such organization will be apparent, when it is recalled that the dried peach industry of the State was in such a deplorable condition but a year ago that not more than one half the year's crop was harvested, and the price offered the grower was below the cost of production. Now the industry is on a sound, profitable basis, having been incorporated on January 11, 1916, with a capital stock of $1,000,000.

The poultry producers of central California, 900 in number, in October, 1916, formed their organization and hereafter will have what they never have had before, in California, a voice in fixing the prices at which their products shall be sold. The poultry producers of southern California, 400 in number, have commenced their organization in the southern part of the State.

The Associated Milk Producers, about 130, supplying San Francisco with milk, have organized, established and completed a pasteurization plant in San Francisco, and in like fashion the rice growers, prune and apricot growers, olive growers and potato growers have come together.

A voluntary cooperation of wholesale and retail dealers in fish and fishermen was secured and temporarily an educational campaign inaugurated, which, for a time, greatly increased the consumption of fish, lowered the price to consumers and entirely stopped the dumping of fish. The plan was suspended because of the withdrawal of one large wholesaler, but it is the hope of the Market Director that the legislature, by appropriate legislation, will make the plan of regulating the fish industry compulsory.

A system has been worked out, and it is expected will soon be established, whereby live stock yards for cattle and hogs and better markets will be provided.

The necessary preliminaries have been taken to organize the honey producers into one or two market associations, and the arrangements have been made for standardization.

The Market Director, in addition, has negotiated with certain New York banking interests to advance to California producers' organizations, when appropriately capitalized and managed, up to 75 per cent of their market value on their warehouse receipts certified to by the State Market Director, with interest rate of only 3½ per cent per annum.

The work of the first year has been devoted largely to building the foundation for further effectiveness, and the results attained far exceed the original expectations. Apparently, California is now on the way to become the best organized state in the Union so far as farmers' marketing associations are concerned. The object of these associations is, of course, twofold, to give to the farmer a fair price for his produce, and to minimize speculation in farm products; to lessen waste in the cost of distribution and to aid both producer and consumer.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

The first Civil Service Law of the State of California was passed in 1913 and in the latter part of that year, the commissioners, Charles Wesley Reed, Edgar Williams, and J. M. Hunter, began their duties. The law since, has been drastically enforced. Examinations are continuously held to ascertain the fitness of those applying for positions and the merit of the applicant as shown by the examination now determines appointments to employment by the State. The design of the law and the endeavor of the commission have been to make merit the basis of appointment and to prevent expensive periodical upheavals, and to end the political spoils system in the public service. The last desideratum has been attained. It is an impossibility now in California to use the public service for political purposes or to direct the political activities of those who hold official position. The commission has jealously guarded, not only its rights under the law, but the rights of the humblest employee of the State. Whether efficiency is obtained by a drastic civil service law is yet debated. The Civil Service Commission insists that a greater measure of efficiency has come under the administration of the law. Many of the heads of the departments dispute this, but of one thing we may be certain, the spoils system has been eliminated, and a political machine among the employees of the State, under such an administration of a civil service law as we have had in California, is an impossibility.

One of the favorite methods of denunciation on the part of those who oppose the State administration is groundlessly to assert that a powerful political machine has been built up in California; and because of a constant repetition of this sort of falsehood many, unacquainted with the facts, have been deceived. Substantially every state institution today, when it desires a new appointee or employee, applies to the Civil Service Commission. The commission sends its list of names and the lists are certified only after rigid examinations. From the certified lists appointees must be selected. The employees in the various state institutions understand not only because of the civil service law, but because it has been a fixed and definite policy of the State, that they are free politically to act as they choose, and that they have acted as they chose is demonstrated by their votes in the various primaries and elections that have been held.

Merely as a matter of amusing incident, and for the benefit of some of our friends who talk of a political machine, inquiry was made in various precincts in 1914, and again in the primary election of 1916. In these precincts voted only employees of certain state institutions, which had been placed under civil service and in which the wages of the employees had been increased. The results were complimentary at least to the independence of the state employees if not to the head of the State administration.

Whether those who assert that efficiency does not follow civil service, or whether the commission, with its records and its responses from various departments, is right in its insistence that greater efficiency has been obtained under civil service, I am not entirely clear; but the tremendous advantage to the State in removing the old political spoils system and in preventing political upheavals in the public service by political parties, outweighs any possible disadvantage of civil service; and we may feel that from this standpoint alone the law has been justified and has been of immeasurable value.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

A walk through the grounds of the University of California, a mere inspection of its enrollment, a glance at the students, and it requires no effort of imagination to see upon this western shore, a center of education rivaling any on earth. Our university, the culmination of our public school system, has advanced with such leaps and bounds, that our own people little understand its progress, and its possibilities. It is gradually acquiring new structures of unexcelled architectural beauty. It has within its staff men whose reputations are nation wide. In number of students, it is practically the largest university in the United States. Those of us who long ago were a part of its less pretentious days, have eagerly watched its marvelous progress and have ever the fondest interest in its development and prosperity.

The State has been very generous to its great institution of learning, but no more generous than that institution deserved. We who knew it only from its academic side, and have with pride seen its academic side reach its present high state and fame, looked forward to a day when it should perform its other great functions for the people as well; and soon after 1911, the endeavor was made to enlarge its agricultural college and to bring the manifold advantages of its learning to all our people, and in this endeavor we have been measurably successful.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

During the past six years there were 325 graduates in agriculture from the university. In the forty years prior to this time, it graduated 150 persons from its College of Agriculture. During the same period certificates of graduation have been given to 147 farm school students, while prior to 1911, no certificates were issued. During these six years, 974 persons have completed short courses in agriculture. Prior to that time 171 persons had taken these courses. During the past three years, 7,368 persons have completed 9,488 correspondence courses in agriculture. Altogether within this period 25,664 have been enrolled, and boys' high school agriculture clubs have been organized in more than one-third of the high schools of the State. In 1914, 341 high school boys grew crops or raised animals under the direction of the College of Agriculture. In 1915, their number had increased to 622, while during the past year, 1,157 boys finished in these prize-winning contests. A beginning has been made in organizing boys' clubs in the public schools, and farm bureaus have been organized in fourteen counties with 175 farm bureau centers, having a membership of about 6,000, while the aggregate attendance during the past year was 64,144.

Members of the staff of the Agricultural College are writing 100,000 letters a year, chiefly in answer to inquiries from those engaged or interested in agriculture. Bulletins to the amount of 3,000,000 copies covering every range of agricultural topic have been distributed. In the language of Dean Hunt, who presides over the college, "These figures are not enumerated for any intrinsic value which they have, but to show a state of mind on the part of the citizens of California, which is more important than mere wealth. It is not the quantity of work done that is most significant, but it is rather the new vision which the students of the college have obtained, and the increased pride of the citizens of the State in their calling. Already a much sounder attitude obtains concerning the development of the State's resources, particularly in regard to the settlement of its lands."

The College of Agriculture has a staff of more than 150 trained men and women who are getting into intimate, daily touch with the people of a great industry.

California has an area equal to the nine Northern Atlantic States, the New England States plus New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and California has every problem that exists in these states and has in addition to that, a variety of problems which arise from the artificial use of water in an arid climate. Over 100 different plants are produced commercially in California. In the solution of the problems presented, the Agricultural College has done amazing work.

The realization of our dream that our great university shall be the melting pot of the every-day problems of our people in agriculture is nearing realization.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

From the very first session of the California legislature, there have been various enactments in regard to weights and measures. No comprehensive bill ever became a law until 1913. Under that act Charles G. Johnson was appointed the State Sealer, and since then, not only has the law of the 1913 session been enforced, but the two subsequently passed at the 1915 session—the net container act and the public weighmaster act—have been included in the duties of the particular department and there is now supervision practically, so far as weight and measure are concerned, of the transfer of nearly all commodities. Not only have these laws concerning weights and measures been justly enforced, but the department has carried on an educational policy in the endeavor to eliminate certain trade customs and trade practices which in former years were condoned, but which have been demonstrated to be unfair and those customs have been gradually destroyed. The department has been one for the promotion of honesty in business. Generally, with business men, it has met with hearty cooperation and in the instances where this has been lacking, drastic enforcement of the law and even prosecution have followed. By the rigid enforcement of the law, the household now receives, because of the intervention of the State, that which it pays for, and by the public weighmaster act, the wrongs so long done the farming communities have been corrected.

Some conception of the amount of work done may be had when it is stated that during the past twenty-two months the total apparatus inspected has been 483,386, of which 174,688 have been corrected and 45,128 confiscated, and that there have been inspected during that period 2,826,291 containers, 294,488 of which have been confiscated.

FLOOD CONTROL.

One of the grave problems of our State has ever been the control of the flood waters of the Sacramento River. The flood control project in which the legislature has participated and which is now under the control of the State Reclamation Board was planned originally by the federal government, primarily for the benefit of commerce and navigation and to remedy the injuries to the Sacramento River caused by hydraulic mining. If this project may be carried out, it will control the floods of the Sacramento River, the fourth largest river in the United States, and will make possible the development of inland waterways; and will open the way for permanent reclamation and safety of valuable lands, including the State Capital itself.

Engineers are agreed that no other feasible plan than that suggested by the federal government will accomplish results. The progress that has thus far been made is shown by the report of the Reclamation Board. The work done by the United States government has been done with appropriations made under what has been termed the "minor project," recommended by the Chief Engineer for Rivers and Harbors, 1907, supplemented by equal appropriations from the state. The limit of that project will soon be reached, and further work must then depend on the adoption by congress of the "major project" as recommended in the reports of the Chief of Engineers for 1910 and 1913. Adoption of that project is provided for in the Flood Control Bill of congress passed last spring by the House of Representatives and favorably reported recently by the Senate committee. That bill contemplates appropriations by congress in the aggregate of $5,600,000, conditional on California appropriating a similar amount to be expended in the opening of the river's mouth and the construction of four weirs, the portions of the project reported by the engineers to be in the interest of commerce and navigation.

The bill provides that not more than $1,000,000 shall be appropriated by congress for the purpose in any one year, that amount of appropriation being based upon the recommendation of the Chief Engineer for Rivers and Harbors. If this flood control bill shall be passed by the Senate, it will be incumbent upon the legislature to determine the attitude of the State and to fix the amount of the appropriation for the ensuing two years.

CALIFORNIA SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

Until 1913, the girls who were the wards of the State were cared for at the Whittier School, but in the legislative session of that year provisions were made for the segregation of the girls, and the California School for Girls was established. A board composed entirely of women was appointed as the managers of this particular institution, and that board consists of Mrs. E. P. Foster, Mrs. Seward A. Simons, Mrs. D. G. Stephens, Mrs. L. B. Hogue, and Mrs. Mary C. Bell.

In the construction of the school the cottage plan was adopted. There are now four cottages with accommodations for 126 girls. The policy established in the new school is segregation and individual development. In the language of Mrs. Wermann the superintendent of the school, "The moral development of the individual girl begins with the acceptance of the school as an opportunity—the only element of discipline or control in vogue is the teaching of self-control. All privileges and opportunities are won by this method. All punishment is the deprivation of privileges."

There have been one hundred paroles from the school since July, 1914. Six only have been returned as violators. Many of the girls have returned to spheres of usefulness and many have satisfactorily married. The school under the control of its women managers, with its woman superintendent, is an unqualified success.

THE STATE PRINTING OFFICE.

Since California's adoption of free textbooks for public school pupils, there has been an increased agitation in many states for a like policy. Many inquiries have come to me concerning our State Printing Office and the success of the commonwealth in printing school books. Many of the inquiries suggested that various reports have been circulated that the maintenance of our State Printing Office and the printing of our school books have been wasteful, extravagant and unsuccessful. Whence these reports emanated, I am unable to say. Perhaps they were justified by our experience under the old regime, but in the last few years, under the new order in California, we have demonstrated in this department, just as in every new activity of the state, that the state, when its service has an undivided allegiance to the state can perform any task in successful competition with any private enterprise. The cost of the production, because of the prevalence of these methods which have been described in previous pages and because of the conditions which were unearthed and remedied by the Board of Control, formerly was scandalously high. Today the cost of output will challenge comparison with any competitors in the commercial field.

We are now producing through our state printing plant for $4.60 the series of textbooks for which the children of other states are paying $12.00. Since the inauguration of the free textbook system some 3,750,000 books have been distributed, and over the former cost of manufacture a saving has been effected of approximately $250,000. More than one and a half million of dollars have been saved from what the private book companies would have exacted.

In addition to this amazing showing as to the cost of textbooks, the printing plant has saved about $50,000 a year in comparison with the upkeep under the old regime. Just one concrete example, and the record is replete with many, will illustrate the difference. The price of ink before the State Printing Office was taken over by this administration was $2.50 per pound. Under business methods and fair competition, contracts for exactly the same ink were entered into by the new order at 35 cents a pound.

The first appointee of this administration as State Printer was Friend W. Richardson, and when he became State Treasurer, he was succeeded by Robert L.

Telfer. The results attained under their management reflect not alone the highest credit upon them, but furnish an object lesson of efficiency and economy in the state's business.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

The extraordinary events of the past year, the call by the federal government for the citizen soldiery of the nation, startled us for an instant into a realization of the necessity for some sort of adequate military preparedness, and our utter lack of it under the present system.

The California militia, under Adjutant General Forbes, and his successors, General Thomas and General Borree, had reached the highest state of efficiency the present system permitted, and yet, when we saw assembled those who were near and dear to us, who constituted a part of our homes and made up our community life, there was impressed upon us with a distinctness which neither our materialism nor our love of peace ought ever to be permitted to obliterate, the utter inadequacy of the nation's present military establishment to meet sudden emergency or immediate peril. And these observations I make as a Californian, proud of the militia of this State, of the personnel of its soldiers and its officers, of its immediate enthusiastic and self-sacrificing response to our country's call, and of its record unsurpassed by any other state.

The first troops of California reached the state mobilization camp at Sacramento June 22, 1916, and the last of California's troops left for our border July 5, 1916. About 4,500 Californians answered the call and patriotically and bravely did their part.

The story of the mobilization of the militia of the nation, the lack of equipment from the federal government, the impossibility of men called in a moment from the ordinary walks of life being physically fit to undergo the rigors and fatigues of an immediate military campaign, were so vividly and indelibly impressed upon us but yesterday that it is unnecessary to recall them. Of course, the issue of preparedness is a national and not a state problem. We could do our part only upon the lines that our nation should decree or in that detached detail which might, as a preliminary, be an aid to the national plan.

California six years ago entered upon a policy of preparedness socially and industrially. Those who have participated in the consummation of this policy are not in any sense militaristic; but the recent world-wide events, the brief military operations of our own nation, have brought the sorrowful realization that we may only maintain and preserve our governmental advance and achievements by our ability to defend them.

It is not my purpose to present to you any dissertation upon preparedness. I have endeavored to follow the views as expressed in other states of the Union, and I have read with interest such laws as that enacted in New York whereby public school pupils over the age of eight are now required to devote under proper instruction twenty minutes per day to exercises which will render them most physically fit. I suggest to you the subject, not only as an appropriate one for consideration, but as one of transcendent importance.

SUPERINTENDENT OF CAPITOL BUILDING AND GROUNDS.

By an act of the legislature of 1911, the position of Superintendent of Capitol Building and Grounds was created and the old system of a Capitol Commission abolished. The superintendent appointed was George G. Radcliff. In the administration of his office, he has had not alone the care of the State Capitol and the beautiful park adjacent thereto, but up to the time of the appointment of the Purchasing Agent of the State, he furnished to the various officials stationery and the like required by their offices.

A greater efficiency in the management of the Capitol and in the Capitol Park resulted, and, as shown by the reports of the superintendent, his purchases were made for sometimes on-half and often as little as one-third the amount formerly paid for stationery, pencils, inks, pads, etc. The improved condition of the Capitol and park since the superintendent was appointed furnish ample justification for the new department.

HARBOR COMMISSION.

The change in the spirit and character of administration has been nowhere more marked than in the control of the San Francisco harbor. Unlike most American harbors, the administration of San Francisco's has been, from its inception, retained in the direct control of the State. Its unique geographical location, its incomparable natural advantages, its perfect security from storms, its widespread connected navigable river system, ramifying through an immense territory of fabulous agricultural and mineral wealth, mark it as destined to take foremost rank among the greatest ports of the world.

The necessities of the old political machine formerly made this harbor the dumping ground of its henchmen. The control of that political machine by a single railroad made it of interest to that railroad to dwarf and cramp development. The great harbor of San Francisco for many years was used merely as a bit of private property for the advancement of political and business interests of the one great transportation company that dominated the state. When the old system was overturned it was found that about two-thirds of the existing twenty-six piers were in such state of dilapidation as to be practically useless. The task undertaken by the Harbor Commissioners, J. J. Dwyer, Thos. S. Williams, and J. H. McCallum, was tremendous, and as their work proceeded, from those who had participated in the profit derived from a state owned harbor devoted to political exploitation, arose a storm of outcry, criticism and misrepresentation. The satisfactory answer today is that the gigantic task set for the Harbor Commission has been done, and well done. The system of private control has been eliminated, favoritism among shippers has been abolished, and all are treated justly and with equality. Seventeen wholly new piers have been constructed, nineteen have been largely reconstructed. The area of piers has been increased 122 per cent. The berthing space available for vessels has grown from five miles to thirteen miles. In the new construction the best modern practices have been followed and San Francisco leads the world in the length and weight of reinforced concrete cylinders or precast reinforced concrete piles. Ship and rail have been brought together by new construction of state owned rail lines about the harbor.

In a brief period San Francisco harbor has been transmuted from a privately operated appendage of a single corporation into a tremendous asset not alone to San Francisco but to the entire State of California.

STATE WATER PROBLEMS CONFERENCE.

In 1915, an act providing for a conference on irrigation, reclamation, water storage, flood control, etc., in order that a unified state policy with reference to these important subjects should be suggested, was duly passed. The commission consisted of certain officials designated by the act, and certain appointees of the Governor, and when completed was as follows. Lieutenant Governor John M. Eshleman, Speaker of the Assembly C. C. Young, Senators L. J. Maddux, W. F. Chandler, Assemblymen L. L. Dennett, E. L. Sisson, State Engineer W. F. McClure, Chairman W. A. Johnstone of the Water Commission, President V. S. McClatchy of the Reclamation Board, Chairman J. C. Baumgartner of the State Conservation Commission, R. J. Anderson, W. P. Boone, Charles L. Donohoe, L. J. Edwards, J. B. Olcese and F. E. Woodley.

A most careful and conscientious work has been performed by this commission. The tremendous importance to the state of its irrigation, reclamation and flood control problems is, of course, obvious and if a unified policy could be determined upon which would utilize the efforts now being independently exerted in behalf of each, the benefits to the state would be inestimable.

An elaborate report has been filed by the conference and many recommendations have been made. The earnest labor that has been done and the exhaustive character of the report justify the most careful consideration of the subject by the legislature. I am not clear as to the advisability of many of the recommendations, but no more important matter could engross your attention, and I commend to you the report of the conference and ask that after careful investigation you determine upon appropriate action in the premises.

LAND COLONIZATION AND RURAL CREDITS.

Your predecessors directed the appointment of a commission to investigate and consider the question of land colonization, the various forms of land banks, cooperative credit unions and other rural credit systems. Subsequently, in accordance with this direction, Dr. Elwood Mead, Harris Weinstock, David P. Barrows, Mortimer Fleishacker and Chester H. Rowell were appointed as commissioners.

The subject with which the commission dealt is one which, of late years, has been occupying our most intelligent thought. The opportunities for fortune have been so many and attractive, and the aspiring from the country in such large numbers have sought the city as the goal of their ambitions, that the balance between city and country has been seriously menaced. Today it is recognized that policies must be adopted which will make farm life more attractive and increase its appeal to intelligent men and women. Greater economic pressure in European countries has more sharply presented the problem, and governments have undertaken to create conditions which would afford farmers and farm laborers a more independent and more generous life.

In all these European countries the methods for improving rural conditions are alike in essential features. Estates are bought, subdivided, made ready for settlement and cultivation, and then sold to frugal and industrious men of small capital. The use of the government's credit permits conditions of payment so liberal that the amount required to pay for the land and its equipment may be earned from the soil. The benefits which have followed have come not alone to the agricultural but to the political and social conditions.

In Germany, Denmark, Ireland and Russia, a country life which formerly had at one end of its social scale the owner of great landed estates, who often lived elsewhere, and at the other end a poverty stricken and discontented peasant or equally dissatisfied farm laborer, is being displaced by new conditions in which extremes of wealth and poverty alike are absent; and in addition to this, those who now enjoy landed independence, have an added patriotism and affection for the government, because of what that government has done for them.

The conditions in our own vast country, which for many years kept from us the problem of European nations, are fast disappearing, and it is becoming more and more difficult for men of little capital to become farm owners. An increasing percentage of land is being cultivated by tenants and the population of the country is not keeping pace with that of the cities. The members of the commission selected by me to study the problem in its relation to our State possess more profound knowledge of the subject and deeper insight into the problem than perhaps any body of men who could be chosen. The commission in its report, which is a most valuable contribution to the particular subject, makes it clear that action by the State to broaden opportunities to establish homes on country lands will bring in no other place greater results than in California. The commission insists, and with this we can all agree, that the advantages of rural life in California are so great that they ought to be enjoyed, and that it is the State's duty to create opportunities worthy of this environment.

The commission suggests the purchase, subdivision and settlement by the State of a sufficient area of land to serve as a concrete example of the methods and policies that have proved so valuable elsewhere, and to demonstrate to the owners of great landed estates what can be done by scientific planning, thorough business organization and the use of adequate capital in the initial stages of development.

In the preceding pages I have attempted only to present in the briefest fashion some of the activities which have been initiated and administered under the new order that has obtained in California.

The achievements of these various departments may be measured not only by the beneficent results of their particular tasks, well performed, but by the changed viewpoint concerning the public service and the obligations of the public service to the people. Into every activity of our government have been infused an enthusiastic effort, a healthy ambition and a new conscience. Volumes might be written of improvements in the hospitals for the insane, of how they have been modernized and how their superintendents, conscious now that they have the full backing of the State administration in the performance of their allotted tasks, and that they are judged by the results in their particular fields, have, with added faith and renewed confidence, gone forward with their work. Every patient in these hospitals has been benefited, his living conditions have been improved and the helpless wards of the State finally receive the fostering and the tender care that is their due from the commonwealth. The service of the State which has become, in reality, a service for the people, in every department of government, has made tremendous advances.

The State Board of Health, under the presidency of Dr. Geo. E. Ehrig, of San Francisco, has entered upon a marvelous career of usefulness, has aided our cities and our towns and has solved problems involving fundamental existence with our people.

The Board of Charities and Corrections, the Horticultural Commissioner, the Building and Loan Commissioner, the State Board of Agriculture, the State Mineralogist, the State Library, the Motor Vehicle Department and every other activity fired by the religion of public service, inspired by a new faith in democracy, have given unto the people a conscientious devotion which has brought immeasurable advantages. And with all the renewed activity and ambitious projects that have been undertaken, the finances of the State were never in better condition. Where we found a deficit of $268,000, there is today a surplus of $4,500,000, and for every dollar expended by the State, its full equivalent in value is received.

In closing, I say to you, as I said four years ago to the legislature which first assembled after the initiation of our new policies:

"California is a state to inspire the enthusiasm and the devotion of all who are privileged to live in it or called to serve it. Its resources are without limit. The imagination of our generation can not even picture the possibilities of its development. In the past decade its growth in population and industrial progress has been marvelous. The next decade will far exceed the last. Materially our destiny and our rank among the states of the world are assured. In the more subtle influences of environment our State stands alone. Nowhere else is there so much charm of climate and natural beauty, so much of the realization of possibilities, not yet unfolded. Standing at the very foreground, not merely of a nation, but of a race, the last station of the westward march of occidental civilization and the final frontier between the two halves of the world, we occupy a unique place which lays upon us a unique responsibility. To the material responsibilities, we shall rise. It is your task to see to it that we rise to the governmental responsibilities also, to afford this people the agencies of self-government with which to fulfill its destiny and as the representatives of the people to do in their interest their sovereign will. The experience of your immediate predecessors determines that this is no impossible aspiration, and I look with confidence to see you carry even further forward the work they so well begun."

HIRAM W. JOHNSON, Governor.

Resolved, That the members of the Assembly offer their condolence to his widow and family.

Honorable Harold E. McPherson was one of the most respected members of the forty-first Legislature of this State. As a member he was studious, ambitious, and desirous to represent his constituents to the fullest and the best of his ability. He was a kind and loving father and husband, and a true and faithful citizen. He always did his duty as a citizen and legislator. We knew him as a friend of humanity and a foe to evil. He was ever ready to aid the weak and fallen, and were each person for whom he had done a kindness to place a bloom upon his grave, he would be sleeping under a veritable bed of roses. There was, there is, no kinder, gentler or nobler man; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be engrossed by the Chief Clerk of the Assembly and that a copy be forwarded to the wife and family of the late Honorable Harold E. McPherson; and be it further

Resolved, That when the Assembly adjourns, this day, it do so out of respect to the memory of the late Honorable Harold E. McPherson.

The Speaker made the following supplementary announcement:

ANNOUNCEMENT BY SPEAKER SUGGESTING TENTATIVE SCHEDULE OF COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

I desire at this time, preliminary to the announcement of committee assignments, which will be made on the next legislative day, to propose a tentative program for committee meetings, as was done by me last session and recorded on pages 112 and 113 of the bound volume of Assembly Journal for 1915.

In this connection I would again call attention to a similar suggestion I made at the session of 1913, as found in the Assembly Journal for that year, and containing the following statement:

"All Assemblymen of previous sessions will recall the fact that it has not been unusual in the past to have two or three important committee meetings at the same time, and that it has been very usual to see committee meetings called and adjourned for want of a quorum. In this way, I believe, many days' time was lost, and many bills were passed out by a bare quorum of committee members. * * *

"Accordingly, in the assignment of committees for this session, an attempt has been made to so assign the members of the Assembly to various groups that each group shall contain at least half the members of the Assembly, who may thus meet in their various committees at the same time with entire absence of conflict."

Following this recommendation, a schedule of committee meetings was arranged and carried out during the session of 1913; and I am sure that every member who has tried both plans will agree that the advantages of this attempt at orderly arrangement amply justified the trouble of putting it into execution.

In 1915 the plan of regular committee meetings was somewhat amplified over that used the session before, and a similar plan was also more or less fully carried out in the Senate, thus making it possible for members of the Assembly with bills before the Senate to be assured of definite times when they could be heard before the respective Senate committees. The President pro tempore of the Senate informs me that he has in mind a similar procedure for this year.

The committees which I shall announce Monday are being appointed to conform with the tentative schedule of meetings I am presenting herewith. Care has been taken that no member has more than one committee engagement at the same time, and committee chairmen should accordingly be able to secure at each meeting a full attendance of their respective committees, a condition of affairs extremely necessary in modern legislative practice, where so much of our work must necessarily be done in the committee room.

It is hoped that committee chairmen will see to it that their committees assemble promptly each day of meeting at the time scheduled, provided there are any bills demanding attention on the committee files. In this way a congestion of bills will be avoided, and in this way, also, any outside person interested in any measure can know exactly when he will be able to obtain a hearing.

As will be noted, the plan of last session has been followed by which the two largest committees are scheduled for three meetings per week, while eleven other important committees are each given two meetings. The other committees are all given one meeting per week, with the exception of the committees of Engrossment and Enrollment, Mileage, Revision and Printing, and Introduction of Bills after the constitutional recess. The work of each of these latter four committees is practically all handled by its chairman, and hence no regular time for committee meetings is required.

It is my very strong desire that this plan for regular and definite committee meetings may commend itself to the members of the Assembly and may become a recognized action for this body, and that the several committee chairmen may see fit to make trial of a schedule something like the following:

By Mr. Brown, C. H.:

SACRAMENTO, January 15, 1917.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN. We, the undersigned residents and citizens of the State of California, respectfully represent that Simeon Moak, of the age of seventy-one years, and Jacob Moak, of the age of eighty-two years, both residents of Chico, California, and respected citizens of that city, were pioneer settlers in Butte County. During the years from 1863 to 1866 they were engaged, with a number of other persons who are since deceased, in fighting a tribe of Indians known as the "Mill Creek Indians," in Butte and Tehama counties. The early settlers in the vicinity were not protected by any armed forces of the government and on many occasions it was necessary that the settlers, including the two men named, take up arms against the said Indians to avenge atrocious murders committed by the Indians upon the settlers; and in order to prevent the recurrence of such murders, it was necessary that the said tribe of Indians be fought by the said settlers until practically exterminated. This was done, and great service to the public was thereby rendered. Ample proof of the services rendered will be submitted if desired.

These two men, who are the survivors of those who participated in such Indian fighting, have now reached an age at which they can not support themselves as easily as in their younger days, and we believe that it is the duty of the State, and attention is called to the matter, to make proper provision for compensating them for their services by a pension or by some other substantial settlement.

We, therefore, petition your honorable bodies to grant such substantial assistance to these two men during the remainder of their lives as you may consider just.

Respectfully submitted,

W. E. DUNCAN, JR.,
And 58 others.

RESOLUTIONS—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following resolution was offered:

By Mr. Johnson, A. B :

WHEREAS, In the death of Admiral George Dewey on January 16, 1917, the American Navy loses its most distinguished officer, the nation its most worthy as well as its most popular hero of this generation and the world its ranking admiral; now therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Assembly, that, in the death of Admiral Dewey we recognize the invaluable service he rendered his country throughout his sixty-two years of service, and especially do we recall with pride the thrill which swept over the nation and around the world, when on May 1, 1898, although 8,000 miles from his base, he engaged a hostile fleet and by its destruction established the superiority of our navy over the enemy and earned his imperishable title of "Hero of Manila Bay."

As an officer he was noted for his thoroughness. He exacted from all the same faithful discharge of every detail of routine duty, but of none did he require more than he willingly gave himself. As a diplomat, dealing with the many delicate and intricate problems which devolve upon naval officers in time of war, he proved himself a discreet and far seeing statesman, and did much to shape the policy of our Government and direct a course which made for peace when confronted by conditions which easily could have involved the nation in added international strife.

As a man he was loved by those with whom he came in contact, because of his keen sense of appreciation, his great warm heart and his loving disposition,

Resolved, That these resolutions be printed in the Journal, that the Clerk of the Assembly be and is hereby instructed to mail a copy to the Naval Board at Washington and to the surviving widow and son.

Resolution read, and on motion of Mr. Johnson, A. B., adopted.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER TWO,

Relating to the oil industry of the State of California.

WHEREAS, The oil industry of California is in a demoralized condition caused by litigation instituted and threatened by the United States Government against bona fide operators who entered upon, and were developing public lands in good faith at the time of their withdrawal, and continued such development under the law, as they were legally advised it to be, until by such efforts they greatly increased the production of oil, and in some instances were the means of opening up new oil fields; and

WHEREAS, Unless the Congress settles by a law these vexatious disputes, the present litigations will probably continue for many years, resulting in great hardship to the operators by preventing the marketing of their oil, and to the public by reason of constantly increasing the price of gasoline and oil due to the stoppage by the government of the operation of large areas of this land, and also resulting in many instances in bankrupting the small operators who have not the resources to stand years of expensive litigations against the United States Government; and

WHEREAS, We firmly believe that justice requires that the government shall legalize the claims of all locators who were actually developing such land in good faith at the time of its withdrawal; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully request the Congress to enact such legislation as will legalize the rights of these operators; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby directed to send a certified copy of these resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, to the President of the Senate, and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Secretary of the Interior.

The total length of the said railroad within and without the city, shall be compared with the length of said railroad within the city, for which a franchise, permit or privilege is bid, and such fraction of the net annual revenue for the whole of said railroad, within and without the city, as the portion of such railroad within the city is of the said whole railroad shall be deemed and considered the net

The right to use and maintain any such extensions shall expire with the original grant of such grantee by which the extensions are made.

Consolidated or Annexed Territory.

(11) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide that in case of consolidation with or annexation to the city of any territory not now included in said city, any franchise to operate such utility or any part thereof, held or claimed by the holder of such re-settlement franchise in or for any portion of such consolidated or annexed territory shall thereupon be surrendered to the city and that the rights and obligations of such re-settlement franchise shall thereupon automatically extend to such additional territory, and that a valuation of the properties used and useful, or in the discretion of the city prospectively useful in the operation of such utility in the area so consolidated or annexed and not included in the capital valuation already fixed in such re-settlement franchise shall be added to the capital account of said re-settlement franchise grantee at a valuation fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California or its successors in interest and otherwise determined as provided in section one hundred forty-five (145) of this charter.

Provision for the Surrender of Existing Franchises.

(12) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide for the surrender by the grantee thereof of any or all of the franchises or rights owned or claimed by such grantee for the occupation of the streets or public places of said city at the time of such re-settlement, and the acceptance in lieu thereof of the rights and privileges granted by such re-settlement franchise as a franchise for the continued operation of such utility within the limits of the city or such portion thereof as had heretofore been operated under the franchise or franchises so surrendered, but not in contravention of any conditions of this charter.

Assumption of Bonded Indebtedness.

(13) Every re-settlement franchise may provide that, when purchasing the property of the grantee, the city, if and when permitted by the provisions of the Constitution of the State of California, may assume the obligations of such grantee for the payment of the bonds then outstanding against said property, not exceeding in aggregate par value the valuation of the property thus purchased, determined as in section one hundred and forty-five (145) of this charter provided, and in such case the par value of such bonds shall be deducted from the said valuation of the property, and the excess, if any, of the valuation of the property over the par value of the bonds so assumed shall be the purchase price to be paid to the grantee by the city for said property. After such purchase, the bonds so assumed shall no longer be a lien exclusively upon the franchise or property of the utility as such, but may be secured by the general credit of the city or by a lien upon a fixed percentage or amount of the gross earnings of such utility, or otherwise, as may be provided in such re-settlement franchise.

That section 141 of Article XX be amended to read as follows:

Life of Franchise.

Sec. 141 Every franchise, permit or privilege shall be granted for an indeterminate period, subject always to the right of the city to acquire and possess the property of the grantee and to assign its right to acquire and possess to a third person, firm or corporation as in section one hundred and forty-five (145) hereof provided.

That section 145 of Article XX of the Charter be amended to read as follows:

Right of City to Assume Ownership.

Sec. 145 Every new franchise, permit or privilege, and every re-settlement franchise, shall be granted upon the express condition that the city may, at a valuation fixed and determined as hereinafter provided, either assume ownership by purchase and take over to itself the property used and useful or in the discretion of the city prospectively useful of the franchise grantee, his or its successors or assigns, or assign its right to acquire and possess said property to a third person, firm or corporation, upon giving said grantee six months' written notice of its intention to so purchase and take over said property, which written notice shall be given only when authorized by ordinance. The valuation of such property, used and useful, or in the discretion of the city prospectively useful and owned by the grantee at the time application is made for said new franchise, permit or privilege, or for said re-settlement franchise, shall be fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, or its successor in interest, and shall be set forth in said new franchise, permit or privilege, or in said re-settlement franchise, as the case may be. To this value shall be added the cost of all additions, extensions and betterments made with the approval of the Board of Control; and from this value shall be deducted the value of property sold or abandoned and a depreciation to be determined and fixed by the Board of Control in accordance with the provisions of the franchise and annually charged to the capital value of said property; and the valuation to which said additions have been made and from which such deductions have been made shall be the valuation upon which the six per cent interest referred to in subdivision three (3) of section one hundred and forty and one-half (140½) and in subdivision two (2) of section one hundred and forty (140) shall be computed, and shall be the valuation at which said property may be acquired by the city, or by the third person, firm or corporation to which such right is assigned by the city.

That section 149 of Article XX of the Charter be amended to read as follows:

Street Sprinkling and Paving

Sec. 149 Every grant of any franchise, permit or privilege in, over, under or along any streets, highways, or public places in the city for railroad, street railway, suburban or interurban railway purposes, shall be subject to the conditions that the persons, firm or corporation exercising or enjoying the same shall sprinkle, plank or re-plank, pave or repave, macadamize or re-macadamize the entire length of the street, highway, or other public place used by the track or tracks of such railroad or railway, and between the rails, and for two feet on each side thereof, and between the tracks, if there be more than one, and keep the same constantly in repair, flush with the street, and with good crossings, and such street work shall be done with the kind of materials and in such manner as the Council may by ordinance direct, at the same time and as a part of the same operation as the work on the remainder in width of said street, highway or other public place, to the satisfaction of the superintendent of streets, provided, however, that, when in the opinion of the Council the space between the rails and tracks of the grantee and two feet on each side thereof or any portion of the same is not required for purposes other than railway traffic, the same need not be paved in like manner as the remainder of the street or public place, but shall be treated as the Council may direct.

That section 153 of Article XX of the Charter be amended to read as follows:

Payment of Net Receipts

Sec. 153 The stipulated percentage of net receipts provided in this Charter to be paid for the use and enjoyment of any franchise, permit or privilege shall be paid annually at the time of filing the annual report provided for in section one hundred and fifty-one (151) of this Charter to be filed by persons, firms or corporations

In the Assembly district designated by the next higher number the groups of names shall be the same as in the district designated by the next lower number, save that the last candidate in the group in the preceding district shall be placed at the beginning of the group, the succession of names to be otherwise unchanged, and so on, rotating the names in this order throughout all the Assembly districts.

In the event that the number of candidates in any group shall exceed the number of Assembly districts in the City and County, then the total number of candidates in such group shall be divided by the number of Assembly districts and the quotient, if an integral number, or if fractional then the next higher integral number shall be the number of candidates to be taken from the end and placed at the beginning of such a group in each successive Assembly district; the rotation then being in this manner, to-wit: if there be fifty-six candidates for Supervisors and twenty Assembly districts, numbered from twenty-five to forty-four, the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth candidates in the group of the twenty-fifth district will be the first, second and third candidates, respectively, in the group in the twenty-sixth district.

Spaces for Name and for Voting Cross.

Section 12 (a) The candidate's name shall be printed in 8-point Roman capital type and shall be enclosed by lines above and below, three-eighths inch apart. Three three-eighths inch squares shall be provided at the right of the name of each candidate, wherein the voter may stamp a cross for that candidate as his first, second or third choice, and at the top of each column of candidates the three columns of squares shall be designated "First Choice," "Second Choice" and "Third Choice" respectively.

Blank Spaces for Additional Candidates.

(b) Three-eighths inch spaces shall be left below the printed names of candidates for each office equal in number to the number to be elected, wherein the voter may write the name of any person or persons for whom he may wish to vote.

Other Requirements of Ballot.

Section 13 All ballots shall be precisely of the same size, quality, tint of paper, kind of type, and color of ink, so that without the number it would be impossible, in each Assembly district to distinguish one ballot from another; and the names of all candidates printed upon the ballot shall be in type of the same size and style. A column or columns may be provided on the right hand side for Charter amendments or other questions to be voted upon at the municipal elections, as provided for under the Charter.

Voting Machines.

Section 14 In the event of the use of voting machines, the ballot shall be arranged on the machines in the same form in each Assembly district as provided for the printed ballot.

No Party Designation.

Section 15. No party name or political designation or descriptive matter concerning the candidate shall appear on the ballot.

Form of Ballots.

Section 16 Except as to the order of names of candidates, the ballots shall be printed in the form designated by the Board of Election Commissioners.

Sample Ballots.

Section 17. The Registrar of Voters shall cause to be printed ballots identical with the ballot to be used in each Assembly district at the election and shall furnish copies of the same on application to registered voters at his office at least ten days before the date fixed for such election, and shall mail to each voter entitled to vote at such election a copy of the ballot to be used in his district, so that all said sample ballots shall have been mailed at least eight days before said election.

Section 18 The Registrar of Voters shall, at each municipal or special municipal election, prepare lists for and select and appoint for each election precinct a precinct board of election officers to hold and conduct such election at the precinct for which said board is appointed. Such board shall consist of four persons—one inspector, one judge and two clerks, who shall perform all the duties required by law at such polling place, except as in this Chapter provided. In constituting such precinct board the Registrar shall have the power to excuse persons appointed whenever he is satisfied any such person ought to be excused, and to substitute new appointees in all cases when any person appointed shall be excused or found disqualified or incompetent by the said Registrar of Voters, down to the time when the Registrar of Voters shall send the final inspector's list of such election officers to the inspector, which list shall be his final order of appointment.

Section 19. (a) The ballots cast at any given precinct shall not be counted at the polling place, but as soon as the polls are closed, the precinct election officers shall not open the ballot box except as may be necessary to close the mouth of the box, and see that the ballot box is correctly locked again without any ballot being removed or added and seal the same and separately seal the key in the manner provided by printed instructions from the Registrar of Voters, and as soon as said election officers have certified, signed and sealed the other packages or envelopes as required by law, such ballot box and key and packages shall be sent by not less than two of said precinct election officers to the office of the Registrar of Voters and there delivered to the Registrar, and until so delivered it shall be unlawful for such officers so conveying the same to allow any other person or persons to have possession of said ballot box or key or packages. Such officers shall proceed as continuously as possible to the office of the Registrar of Voters. Immediately upon the delivery of such ballot box to the Registrar of Voters or his deputy, said Registrar shall cause each such box to be plainly labeled with the correct number of the precinct in which such ballots were cast. The Registrar of Voters shall in such manner as he shall deem best calculated to provide competent persons, select and provide as many persons as he may deem necessary for the counting, tallying and certifying of returns of the vote cast in each precinct, and such persons shall have the qualifications required for election officers at State elections, save that all persons who are employed in the Department of Elections, or who report for service from the Civil Service of the City and County, shall, if not a candidate at such election, be qualified, save that none of the persons so selected need reside in a particular precinct. The persons so selected and provided shall be segregated by the Registrar of Voters or his deputies into counting boards respectively to consist of three persons each, and each such selected counting board shall proceed to count and tally such ballots by precincts separately under the direction of the Registrar of Voters or his deputies or such superintendents as the Registrar of Voters may direct, in the same manner provided by law for counting, tallying and certifying ballots at State elections except as herein otherwise provided. The form of tally sheets shall be provided and determined by the Registrar of Voters, and there shall be a certificate at the end thereof to the effect that the foregoing is the correct result of the election in such precinct, and such certificate shall be signed by the three persons who completed such tally list and return. The Registrar of Voters or any deputy empowered by him by writing may excuse or dismiss any person from any such counting board at pleasure and enforce such order and substitute any person so provided by the Registrar of Voters in the place of any person so excused, dismissed, or who absents himself from said counting board. Any person acting on any such counting board who shall refuse to obey any lawful order of the Registrar or his deputy shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. The tally sheets shall be in duplicate, kept by two clerks, and one copy upon the completion thereof shall be sealed and signed across the flap in the manner provided by the laws of the State of California for sealing tally lists where votes are counted at the precinct, and the other tally list shall remain open for inspection in the office of the Registrar of Voters. The returns so sealed shall be securely kept by the Registrar until produced before the Board of Election Commissioners for official canvass in the manner provided by law. The Registrar of Voters shall determine the compensation to be paid to each person employed in counting, tallying and sealing such ballots or engaged in superintending or assisting during said count, not to exceed the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25) aggregate for each precinct, and such claims and demands when certified by the Registrar or his deputy and presented to the Board of Election Commissioners shall be allowed in open session, and the Auditor shall audit and the Treasurer pay such claims out of the general fund. Except as herein otherwise provided, the provisions of the laws of the State of California applicable to State elections or State election officers, and such laws relating to the official canvass and declaration of the result of State election returns shall apply to the counting, tallying, certifying, sealing, custody and official canvass of the ballots and returns counted and returned under the provisions of this Chapter. If there shall not be room enough in the Department of Elections for the counting of said votes, the Registrar of Voters may cause such counting to proceed in any other place in the same building which may be obtained by him for such purpose, provided, that a notice of the location of such place be conspicuously displayed in the Department of Elections. Said votes shall be counted in a place open to the public, and the boards counting the same shall enter the total number thereof on the tally sheets provided therefor. They then shall count and enter the number of the first, second and third choice votes for each candidate on said tally sheet and make returns thereof to the Board of Election Commissioners as herein required. The canvass must be public, in the presence of bystanders, and must be continuous, without adjournment until completed and the result thereof is declared. Any candidate shall be entitled to a representative among the bystanders.

The provisions of this Chapter relating to counting the ballots shall not apply to a special municipal election at which a proposition or propositions, or question or questions, only is, or are, voted upon: but the ballots at all such special elections shall be counted at the respective polling places and returned by the precinct election boards under the laws applicable to such elections.

(b) If a ballot contain more than one vote for the same candidate, only the one of such votes highest in rank shall be counted. If a ballot contain either first or second or third choice votes for any office in excess of the number of places to be filled for such office no vote for that office in the column showing such excess shall be counted.

(c) Paragraph (b) of this section shall be printed conspicuously on the tally sheet.

(d) Candidates receiving a majority of the first choice votes for any office shall be elected. If the full number of candidates to be elected do not receive such a majority of the first choice votes for such office, a canvass shall then be made of the second choice votes received by those candidates for said office who are not elected by first choice votes; said second choice votes shall be added to the first choice votes received by such candidates and candidates who by such addition shall receive a majority shall be elected.

(e) If by the count of either first choice votes or first and second choice votes, as above provided, more candidates than there are offices to be filled shall receive a majority, the candidate or candidates equal in number to the number of offices to be filled having the highest vote shall be elected.

(f) If the full number of candidates to be elected do not receive a majority by adding first and second choice votes, as above directed, a canvass shall then be made of the third choice votes received by those candidates for said office who are not elected, either by first choice votes or by adding first and second choice votes. Said third choice votes shall be added to the first and second choice votes received by such candidates, and the candidates equal in number to the number of offices remaining to be filled, who receive the highest number of votes by said addition shall be elected.

(g) The above subdivisions (d), (e) and (f) shall be applied and carried out in the making of the official canvass and the declaration of the official result.

Ties.

Section 20. A tie between two or more candidates shall be decided in favor of the one having the highest number of first choice votes. If they are also equal in that respect then the highest number of second choice votes shall determine the result. If this does not decide, then the tie shall be determined by lot, under the direction of the Board of Election Commissioners.

Majority Defined.

Section 21. A majority vote for any candidate for an office where but one is to be elected shall be deemed to be more than one-half of the total number of first choice votes cast for all candidates for such office.

A majority vote for a candidate for an office where a group is to be elected shall be more than one-half of the number secured by dividing the total of first choice votes cast for all candidates for such office by the number of places to be filled.

Failure of Persons Elected to Qualify.

Section 22. If a person elected fails to qualify, the office shall be filled as in this Charter provided for a vacancy in such office.

Informalities in Election.

Section 23. No informalities in conducting municipal elections shall invalidate elections if they have been conducted fairly and in substantial conformity to the requirements of this Charter.

Section 24. From and after the first day of July, 1917, the annual salary of the Registrar of Voters shall be fixed by resolution of the Board of Election Commissioners of the City and County of San Francisco. That Section 5 of Chapter V of Article XI of the said Charter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 5. If the incumbent receive the number of votes necessary to constitute an election, he shall continue in office; and it shall require not less than double the number of signatures provided in Section 1 of this chapter to initiate a second election for his recall; and if reelected at such second recall election it shall require not less than three times the number of signatures provided in Section 1 of this chapter to initiate a third election for the recall of such officer during the term for which he was elected.

If the Mayor shall concur in such recommendation, the Board of Supervisors may make such sale in the manner provided in Section 9 of this Chapter. The proceeds arising from such sale shall be used exclusively for the purpose of purchasing lands for sites for schools or for additions to existing sites.

CHARTER AMENDMENT No. 24.

That Sections 2, 3 and 5 of Chapter III, and Sections 2 and 3 of Chapter V, of Article XI are hereby amended to read as follows:

That Section 2 of Chapter III of Article XI of the Charter of the City and County of San Francisco is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 2. The words "registered voters" as used in this chapter, shall mean qualified voters whose names appear on the records of registration for the current or next preceding year. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but said petition may be presented in sections. The number of signatures to each section shall be at the pleasure of the person soliciting signatures to the same.

Any qualified voter of the city and county is competent to solicit signatures and make the affidavit of verification to said signatures. Each signer to said petition shall add to his or her signature his or her place of residence, giving the street and number, and there shall be also added by the said solicitor such other matter as is authorized by this section. Every section of such petition shall be verified by the person soliciting such signatures by his or her affidavit, which affidavit shall be in the following form, with the blank spaces properly filled in:

"STATE OF CALIFORNIA. )
City and County of San Francisco ) ss.

(-----), being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the person who in person solicited each and every signature to the annexed section of said petition, and that deponent has with pen and ink or indelible pencil, numbered each such signature seriatim, commencing with number 1. That no person signed said petition upon said section except in the presence of deponent. That said section has not been left at any time where any person could sign the same except in the personal presence of deponent. That each and every signature to said section was made in the personal presence of deponent, and that to the best of his (----) knowledge and belief each signature is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. That deponent was at the time of soliciting such signature, and now is, a duly qualified voter of the said city and county."

Said affidavit shall be subscribed by the person making such affidavit and sworn to by such person before a person authorized to take such oath to such affidavit. Each section of such petition must be prepared substantially in accordance with the requirements of this chapter, and all signing, not made, numbered and verified substantially in accordance with the requirements of this chapter shall be disregarded. The Registrar of Voters shall print sample sheets for signing such petition, in blank, and sample blank affidavits of verification, and furnish a copy of each to any person desiring to get up a petition.

The affidavit herein provided for shall be at the end of each section. The solicitor of such signatures, before his affidavit is taken, must number each signature upon the section seriatim, beginning with number 1, at the right hand of the residence opposite to each signature to such section in a column to be made for that purpose; such numbering must be with pen and ink or indelible pencil. There shall also be to the left hand of such signatures, a column at least one inch wide, in blank headed "Precinct", and to the left of that, an additional blank space, substantially one-half inch wide, to admit of such abbreviations as the Registrar shall deem necessary to the expeditious mode of verification of such petition. All precincting shall be done by the office of the said Registrar, but no section or signature shall be rejected, because precincts have been inserted elsewhere, before filing. Any signer to a petition may withdraw his name from the same by filing with the Registrar of Voters a verified revocation of his signature before the filing of the petition. No signature can be revoked after the petition has been filed. The Registrar of Voters, or his deputy shall indorse on said petition the names of three persons who filed said petition, and the date of the filing of the same at the time of filing said petition. Unless and until it be proven otherwise by official investigation by the Registrar of Voters, it shall be presumed that the petition filed conforms to all legal requirements, and contains the signatures of the requisite number of registered voters, and after an election based thereon, the sufficiency of such petition shall not be questioned.

That Section 3 of Chapter III of Article XI of the Charter of the City and County of San Francisco is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 3. The Registrar of Voters shall have fifteen (15) days after the filing of such petition, and the same time after receipt by him of a Charter amendment petition in which to verify the same and certify the result thereof in the manner provided by this section. Within such time, the Registrar of Voters shall finally determine from the records of registration whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of electors entitled to vote. If any signature be called in question, the said Registrar of Voters shall mail notice to such purported signer, stating that his or her name is attached to such petition and citing him or her to appear before said Registrar of Voters forthwith, naming the time and place. Said citation shall inclose a blank affidavit denying that the person signing such affidavit signed such petition, and said citation shall also contain a statement, that a blank affidavit denying that such person signed such petition, is enclosed, and that if such person does not desire to attend in person to deny his signature he may swear to such affidavit of denial before any officer authorized to take oaths, and mail the same to the Registrar of Voters, and that if he does not so attend and deny such signature in person, or by making and mailing such affidavit of denial, that his purported signature to such petition will be treated as genuine.

Unless said purported signer shall appear when cited and deny his signature under oath before said Registrar, or his deputy, or unless the Registrar of Voters shall receive such sworn affidavit of denial of such signature, before the time when by this chapter the said Registrar must, as aforesaid, make such final determination, such signature must be counted as genuine.

The Registrar shall keep a list of the names of all purported signers who appear before him and deny their signatures under oath, and also file and keep such affidavits, for at least five years.

The Board of Supervisors shall make necessary appropriation of money, and the Board of Election Commissioners shall allow to the Registrar of Voters all the extra help he may require for the purpose of examining and making investigation of such petition. The Registrar of Voters, upon the completion of such examination and determination, shall forthwith attach to said petition his certificate properly dated and showing the result of said examination, and shall forthwith mail a copy of said certificate to the respective persons endorsed by him on said petition as filers thereof. If by said certificate the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended by additional signatures within twenty days after the date of said certificate, in the same manner in all respects as required for the original petition. Within ten days after the filing of such amended or supplemental petition, the Registrar of Voters shall make like examination and determination of the amended or supplemental petition, and attach and mail a like certificate. If upon the examination and certification of such original petition, or such original and supplemental petition, it shall appear that a sufficient number of qualified voters have signed such petition to require an election to be held thereon, the Registrar of Voters shall, if a special election is required to be held upon such petition, require the Board of Election Commissioners to meet in not less than five days after the date of his certificate that such petition is sufficient, and if no regular meeting of the Board of Election Commissioners is set within such required period, the Registrar of Voters is authorized and required to issue a call for a special meeting of said Board to convene within the required time, and at such meeting of the Board, or any of the meetings of the Board within said required time, said Registrar of Voters shall report the sufficiency of such petition to said Board of Election Commissioners and exhibit a certificate or certificates attached to said petition, or amended petition, or both, and said Board shall, if said certificate show the petition sufficient, call an election as required. If, however, after the examination of said petition and any amended or supplemental petition, or after the expiration of the time when the supplemental petition is permitted to be filed, said petition is shown insufficient, the Registrar of Voters shall report such insufficiency to the Board of Election Commissioners at their next regular meeting after the fact of such insufficiency shall have become final, and exhibit his certificate or certificates so attached to such petition or petitions. A petition finally insufficient does not prevent a new proceeding.

The words "last preceding regular municipal election", or "last preceding general municipal election", wherever the same occur in Chapters III, IV or V of said

Article XI of said Charter, mean the last municipal election at which a mayor for said city and county was elected for a full term.

That Section 5 of Chapter III of Article XI of the Charter of the City and County of San Francisco is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 5. If the petition be signed by registered voters as many in number as four per cent but less than ten per cent of the said entire vote, or if for any reason any measure proposed by a petition signed by registered voters as many in number as ten per cent of said entire vote has not been submitted at a special election as provided in Section 4 of this chapter, then, in either event, such measure or measures, without alteration, shall be submitted by the Board of Election Commissioners to a vote of the electorate at the next general State or municipal election that shall occur at any time after thirty days from the date of the certificate of sufficiency attached to the petition accompanying such measure.

That Section 2 of Chapter V of Article XI of said Charter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 2. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of Sections 2 and 3 of Chapter III (the initiative) of Article XI of this Charter, which sections are hereby made part hereof, and shall be examined and certified as provided by said sections last mentioned.

That Section 3 of Chapter V of Article XI of said Charter is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 3. The Board of Supervisors is further empowered to provide in such ordinance, if it be deemed expedient by said Board, that such portion of any assessment levied in pursuance of such ordinance for a modification or change of street grades and the performance of street work in connection therewith, as shall have been assessed for the costs and expenses of such street work performed, may at the option of the owner of property so assessed, be paid in installments covering a period provided for in such ordinance, but not to exceed ten years, upon such terms and conditions as may in such ordinance be provided and in accordance with the method therein prescribed, but the Board of Supervisors shall not require interest to be paid on such installment payments at a rate greater than seven per cent per annum.

No assessment shall be levied in pursuance of such ordinance upon any property for the modification or change of street grades and the performance of street work in connection therewith, which, together with all assessments for street work or for damages or for both in connection with the modification or change of street grades that may have been levied upon the same property during the year next preceding the inception of the proceedings for such modification or change of street grades and the performance of street work in connection therewith, will amount to a sum greater than fifty per centum of the value at which said property was assessed for municipal purposes, exclusive of improvements thereon, upon the assessment hook of the City and County current at the time of the inception of such proceedings. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to limit or restrict any method or system enacted by any such ordinance as herein provided for to the provisions of such ordinance so enacted, and shall not be held to exclude any other method or system provided in this Charter for the aforesaid objects and purposes.

CHARTER AMENDMENT No. 27.

That Section 33 of Chapter II of Article VI is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 33. The provisions in this Article relating to and providing for street work or street improvements in the City and County and providing for the payment of the costs and expenses thereof, shall not be deemed exclusive, but the Board of Supervisors may, and it is hereby empowered so to do, pass an ordinance by a vote of at least fifteen of its members, which may from time to time be revised or amended by a like vote, providing for street work or street improvements in the City and County and for the payment of the costs and expenses thereof; and, in and by such ordinance, it may declare and designate the kinds of such work or improvements.

Said Board is authorized and empowered to order such street work done or improvements made under such proceedings as it may in such ordinance provide, and to assess, in such manner and by such method as it may in and by such ordinance prescribe and provide, the proper costs and expenses thereof upon lands in private ownership, when the payment of such costs and expenses is not otherwise provided for in such ordinance, and when the payment of a portion of such costs and expenses is so otherwise provided for, to assess the remainder thereof upon such lands, to provide for a lien on lands so assessed for such work or improvements; and to provide in such ordinance the method for collecting and enforcing such assessments so levied, and the manner in which lands for which assessments levied thereunder remain unpaid may be sold, and to prescribe penalties for failure to pay such assessments. By and in such ordinance said Board may provide for fully and completely exercising the powers which are hereby conferred as to such street work or street improvements and the assessment and collection of the costs and expenses thereof; and the provisions of such ordinance shall not be governed or limited by the provisions of this Article inconsistent or in conflict therewith.

The Board of Supervisors, if it be deemed expedient by the Board, is further empowered to provide in such ordinance that any assessment levied in pursuance thereof may at the option of the owner of property assessed be paid in installments covering a period provided for in such ordinance, but not to exceed ten years, upon such terms and conditions as in such ordinance may be provided and in accordance with the method therein prescribed, but the Board of Supervisors shall not require interest to be paid on such installment payments at a rate greater than seven per cent per annum.

No assessment shall be levied in pursuance of such ordinance upon any property for street work or street improvements which, together with all assessments for street work or street improvements that may have been levied upon the same property during the year next preceding the inception of the proceedings for such work or improvements, will amount to a sum greater than fifty per centum of the value at which said property was assessed for municipal purposes, exclusive of improvements thereon, upon the assessment-book of the city and county current at the time of the inception of such proceedings.

Such limitation of assessed valuation, however, shall not apply to any assessment made payable in installments as in this section hereinbefore provided for; but in no case shall any such installment payment exceed in amount twenty-five per centum of such assessed valuation.

The provisions of this section shall not be construed to limit or restrict any method or system enacted by any such ordinance as herein provided for street work or street improvements in the City and County to the provisions of such ordinance so enacted, and shall not be held to exclude any other method or system provided in this Charter for such work or improvements.

CHARTER AMENDMENT No. 28.

That Section 2 of Chapter III, Article IV, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 2. The Treasurer shall receive and safely keep all moneys which shall be paid into the treasury. Except as hereinafter provided, he shall not lend, exchange, use nor deposit the same, or any part thereof, to or with any bank, banker or person; nor pay out any part of such moneys, nor allow the same to pass out of his personal custody, except upon demands authorized by law or this Charter, and after they shall have been approved by the Auditor. At the close of business each day, he shall take an account of and enter in the proper book the exact amount of money on hand. At the end of every month he shall make out and file with the Mayor and publish quarterly in the official newspaper a statement of the condition of the treasury, showing the amounts of receipts into and payments from the treasury, and on what account, and out of what fund. If he violate any of the provisions of this section, he shall be guilty of misconduct in office, and be liable to removal therefrom, and be proceeded against accordingly. He shall keep the accounts belonging to each fund separate and distinct and shall in no case pay demands chargeable against one fund out of moneys belonging to another. He shall be in personal attendance at his office each day during office hours. No fees of any kind shall be retained by him, but the same, from whatever source received or derived, shall be paid by him into the treasury.

All moneys paid into the treasury of the City and County may be deposited by the Treasurer, upon the written consent of the Mayor, the Auditor and the Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Supervisors, in any licensed national bank or banks within this State, or in any bank, banks, or corporations authorized and licensed to do a banking business and organized under the laws of this State, provided that such bank or banks in which such moneys are deposited shall furnish as security for such deposits, bonds of the United States or of this State, or of any county, municipality or school district within this State, approved by the Treasurer and the City Attorney. The market value of the bonds furnished as security shall be at least 10 per cent in excess of the amount of the deposit secured thereby; but the amount of the deposit shall in no case exceed the face value of the bonds furnished as security therefor. And provided that such bank or banks shall pay a reasonable rate of interest, not less than 2 per cent per annum, on the daily balances therein deposited.

The rate of interest shall be fixed annually as herein provided in the month of January of each year on all deposits to be made for such year; provided that the rate of interest for the year ending December 31st, 1907, may be fixed as herein provided within ten days after this section goes into effect. The rate of interest shall be fixed by the Treasurer, the Auditor and the Mayor, and the same reported in writing to the Board of Supervisors immediately. Said rate of interest shall be a reasonable rate and not less than 2 per cent per annum on the daily balances deposited; and the rate of interest so established for each year as herein provided, shall be the uniform rate of interest required from all banks receiving deposits from the City and County for that year. Interest on all moneys deposited as herein provided for shall belong to the City and County and shall be paid quarterly into the general fund of the City and county except where the law of this Charter otherwise directs.

It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to receive from the bank in which the deposit is made, a receipt or receipts in duplicate, showing the date and amount of deposit and rate of interest to be paid thereon, one copy of which said Treasurer shall keep on file in his office and he shall file one copy with the Auditor.

The Treasurer shall keep a record in his office, which shall be open to public inspection, showing at all times the amount of money on deposit in all banks in which the same is deposited, and dates of deposit; also a record of all banks making application for the deposit of the public funds.

The total amount of public moneys on deposit in any bank shall not at any time exceed 50 per cent of the paid-up capital stock of such depository bank or banks. The Treasurer shall not have on deposit at any one time more than 10 per cent of the public moneys under his control and available for deposit in any bank while there are other qualified banks requesting such deposits; provided, that the Treasurer shall not be required to deposit public moneys in any bank outside the City and County.

The receipt issued by any bank for deposits made therein, together with the bonds held as security therefor, shall be held by the Treasurer and be recognized and counted as cash to the amount recited in the receipt by the officers required by law to count the same.

Deposits, with interest thereon, shall be subject to withdrawal on demand of the Treasurer, conjointly with that of the Mayor, and any bank receiving the deposit of public moneys, may, at any time, return the same to the Treasurer, together with interest to date of return and it shall be the duty of the Treasurer, upon receiving the return of such deposit, to immediately return to such bank all bonds held as security for the deposit returned. When the Treasurer withdraws his deposit, he shall return, on the demand of the bank, such bonds as were held as security for the deposit or portion thereof withdrawn.

Should any bank fail to pay any public moneys held on deposit as herein provided, the Treasurer (with the written consent of the Mayor) may, after ten days' written notice to such bank, proceed to sell at public or private sale such of the bonds held by him as security as he may see fit; provided, however, that he shall sell no bonds for less than their face value except at public sale, after ten days' printed notice in the official newspaper. The proceeds of such sale, after paying all expenses, shall be credited to the account of the bank which deposits the bonds as collateral. Any bank failing to make payment may, at any time before the sale of the bonds is completed, stop such sale by repaying all the moneys deposited with it, together with any expense that may have been incurred by the Treasurer as the result of such failure. Should the proceeds of any such sale fail to fully repay any deposit, the balance remaining unpaid may be collected in an action at law in the name of the City and County.

The Treasurer shall not be responsible for any loss of public moneys resulting from the deposit thereof when made in accordance with the provisions of this act. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to safely keep all evidence of indebtedness issued by banks for deposits made therein and bonds deposited as security and the Treasurer shall be responsible for such evidence of indebtedness and for bonds held as security therefor, together with the interest thereon and the proceeds of any sale of such bonds; and the Treasurer shall be responsible to such bank for the safe return of the securities furnished by it to the Treasurer.

The expense of transportation of moneys to or from the treasury to such depositories shall be borne by such depositories.

Nothing in this section contained shall prevent the City and County from buying bonds or otherwise investing its money in any manner now provided by law or this Charter and nothing herein contained as to the disposition of interest and public moneys deposited shall apply to any money received or held by the City and County wherein any law or this Charter provides for the payment of interest or profit thereon into any particular fund.

SEC. 5. Nominating Petitions. The mode of nomination and election of officers to be voted for at any general municipal election shall be as follows:

Not later than thirty days and not earlier than sixty days before any general municipal election, electors of the city may, by written petition, present names of candidates for election. GENERAL (OR SPECIAL) MUNICIPAL ELECTION, CITY OF ALAMEDA

(Insert date thereof.)

INSTRUCTION TO VOTERS. To vote, stamp a cross (X) opposite the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote. Vote your first choice in the first column, your second choice in the second column and your third choice in the third column. SEC. 10. Arrangement of Ballots. The ballots shall be arranged with proper headings above each office or classification of offices, showing the number to be voted for, for each office or classification, and the names of the candidates, arranged in alphabetical order, with three voting squares opposite each name, designated "first choice," "second choice" and "third choice," and with blank line or lines below the printed names of candidates for each office to be voted for equal to the number to be voted for, wherein the voter may write the name of any person or persons for whom he may wish to vote, stamping a cross (X) opposite the name, as herein provided. SEC. 15. Canvass of Returns. The council, at its next regular meeting following the election, shall canvass the returns. The candidate receiving the highest number of first choice votes, if such votes constitute a majority of all ballots cast for candidates under that classification, shall be declared elected. If no candidate shall have received a majority of first choice votes, a canvass shall be made of the second choice votes, which shall be added to the first choice votes, and the candidate having received the largest number of votes so combined, if such constitute a majority, shall be declared elected. If after adding the first and second choice votes no candidate shall be found to have a majority, then the third choice votes of each candidate shall be added to his first and second choice votes, and the candidate having received the highest number of votes shall be declared elected.

SEC. 16. Tie Votes. A tie between two or more candidates shall be decided in favor of the one having the highest number of first choice votes. If they are equal, the highest number of second choice votes shall determine. If there still be a tie, it shall be decided by lot, under the direction of the council.

(3) Every franchise may provide that, when purchasing the property of the grantee, the city, if and when permitted by the constitution of the State of California, may assume the obligation of such grantee for the payment of the bonds then outstanding against said property, not exceeding in aggregate par value the valuation of the property thus purchased, and in such case the par value of such bonds shall be deducted from the valuation of said property, and the excess, if any, of such valuation over such par value shall be the purchase price to be paid to the grantee by the city. Amendment of Franchise (5) Any franchise may be amended by ordinance passed by the council, approved by vote of the electors as herein provided, and accepted by the franchise grantee; but if the amendment is of a resettlement franchise, it shall not become effective until approved by the electors in the same manner as the original resettlement franchise.

Board of Control. (6) Any franchise may provide for a board of control to consist of two competent and experienced men, one to be selected by the council and one by the grantee of said franchise, with such powers and duties as may be provided in the franchise, all disagreements between the two to be decided by an arbiter appointed for that purpose in a manner to be determined in such franchise.

Additional Powers. (7) The council in granting any franchise shall have power to impose terms and conditions not inconsistent with this charter, in addition to the terms and conditions herein provided for, and shall have such other powers hereunder as may be proper and necessary in the preparation, enactment, and the carrying out of the terms of any franchise.

Application to Resettlement Franchises (8) The provisions of this section shall apply to resettlement franchises as well as to new franchises.

All bills to appropriate money for contingent purposes shall be presented by the Committee on Ways and Means. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Assembly shall notify the author of any bill or proceeding pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

31. Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall be read but once, and that after they have been reported by a committee; and provided, further, that the ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions, except those presenting charter amendments, unless regularly demanded, or required by statute or the Constitution. Proposed amendments to the Constitution shall be treated the same as bills; provided they shall be read but once, and only after they have been reported by a committee. All bills, constitutional amendments, and joint and concurrent resolutions may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure on First Day of Introducing Bills.

32. In each legislative session on the first day when bills are introduced, under the "Order of Business" of "Introduction and Reference of Bills," the roll shall be called from A to Z and then back again from Z to A, and as each member's name is called, he shall have the privilege of introducing one bill, constitutional amendment, joint or concurrent resolution. The motion shall give the title of the bill, and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either House of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought, and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

The committee shall report upon each bill so referred to it on the same legislative day. The report shall be made at the conclusion of the consideration of the Senate Special File.

The committee may, in its discretion, incorporate more than one bill in the resolution to grant leave to introduce, incorporating in the resolution the title of each bill in full, and the roll shall be called upon the adoption of the resolution and no resolution to introduce any such bill shall be adopted without the consent of three-fourths of the members of the Assembly.

If a division of the question is demanded upon the introduction of any particular bill, the division shall be allowed, and the roll called separately upon the bill. ##### Bills to Be Reported Back by Committees.

39. All committees shall act upon bills referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon, each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule: provided, that the Assembly may at any time, by a majority vote of all its members, recall a bill from any committee.

ORDER OF CONSIDERING BILLS.

No member shall speak more than twice during the consideration of any one question, of whatever nature, on the same day and at the same stage of proceedings, without leave being granted, except the author of a bill or resolution, or mover of a question, who shall have the right to close the debate. No member shall be allowed to speak more than fifteen minutes upon any question except by leave of the House, and except further, the author shall be allowed fifteen minutes to open and fifteen minutes to close.

If the point of order be sustained by the Chair, the member shall not be allowed to proceed:

but if it be not sustained, then he shall be permitted to go on. Every such decision from the Chair shall be subject to an appeal to the House, but no discussion of a question of order shall be allowed, unless an appeal be taken from the decision of the Chair.

53 If any member be called to order for offensive words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall report the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to censure of the House, for language used in debate, if any member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words spoken and before exception to them shall have been taken.

Questions of Order After Previous Question Is Ordered.

56 All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion or previous question, shall be decided (whether on appeal or otherwise) without debate; provided, that after the previous question shall have been ordered, ten minutes shall be allowed for explanation of the matters covered by the previous question of which five minutes shall be given to the member moving the previous question, and five minutes to those opposed thereto.

It shall then be numbered and read the first time at the Clerk's desk and referred to a standing committee, and be printed, and a copy placed upon the desk of each member. Every bill shall be read at length on three several days previous to its passage, unless in case of urgency two-thirds of the House shall, by vote of yeas and nays, dispense with this provision. The Speaker shall give notice at each reading, whether it is the first, second or third reading. All bills to appropriate money for contingent purposes shall be presented by the Committee on Ways and Means. The chairman or clerk of each committee of the Assembly shall notify the author of any bill or proceeding pending before such committee of the hour and place of hearing or acting upon such bill or proceeding.

Joint and Concurrent Resolutions and Constitutional Amendments.

31 Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be treated the same as bills; provided, that they shall be read but once, and that after they have been reported by a committee, and provided, further, that the ayes and noes shall not be called upon the adoption of concurrent resolutions, except those presenting charter amendments, unless regularly demanded, or required by statute or the Constitution. Proposed amendments to the Constitution shall be treated the same as bills; provided, they shall be read but once and only after they have been reported by a committee. All bills, constitutional amendments, and joint and concurrent resolutions may be amended by a majority of those voting.

Procedure on First Day of Introducing Bills

32 In each legislative session on the first day when bills are introduced, under the "Order of Business" of "Introduction and Reference of Bills," the roll shall be called from A to Z and then back again from Z to A, and as each member's name is called he shall have the privilege of introducing one bill, constitutional amendment, joint or concurrent resolution. When such bill is designed to be a substitute for one or more Assembly bills, the bills for which it is such a substitute shall, by a majority vote of the House, be deemed withdrawn, and shall not appear upon the file. Upon the introduction of a bill by a committee, it shall be numbered as a new bill, read, ordered printed, and placed upon the Assembly file for further action.

Introduction of Bills After Constitutional Recess.

34 Immediately upon convening after the constitutional recess the Speaker shall appoint a standing Committee on Introduction of Bills, to consist of three members.

All motions for leave to introduce bills after the constitutional recess shall be sent to the desk in writing under the order of "Introduction of Bills," and at no other time. The motion shall give the title of the bill and shall be accompanied by the bill. The bill shall thereupon be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills.

Joint and concurrent resolutions and constitutional amendments shall not be referred to the Committee on Introduction of Bills, and shall not require a vote to authorize their introduction.

The committee shall examine bills referred to it with particular reference to the question as to whether there is already any bill in either House of the same character which might be amended to effect the result sought, and generally as to the advisability of introducing the measure.

The committee shall report upon each bill so referred to it on the same legislative day. The report shall be made at the conclusion of the consideration of the Senate Special File.

The committee may, in its discretion, incorporate more than one bill in the resolution to grant leave to introduce, incorporating in the resolution the title of each bill in full and the roll shall be called upon the adoption of the resolution and no resolution to introduce any such bill shall be adopted without the consent of three-fourths of the members of the Assembly.

If a division of the question is demanded upon the introduction of any particular bill the division shall be allowed and the roll called separately upon the bill. Bills to Be Reported Back by Committees.

39 All committees shall act upon bills, constitutional amendments and resolutions referred to them as soon as practicable, and when acted upon each bill shall be reported back to the Assembly forthwith, and the chairman of each committee is charged with the observance of this rule; provided, that the Assembly may at any time, by a majority vote of all its members, recall a bill, constitutional amendment or resolution from any committee.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER NINE

Relative to the establishment of definite lines of division between federal and state taxes, and the calling of a congress of the states to consider conflicting jurisdictions of the federal and state governments.

WHEREAS, In the exercise of its taxing power the federal government is embracing sources of revenue heretofore not availed of by that government; and

WHEREAS, There exists a line which separates the taxable units that equitably and logically may be left solely to state taxation from the units logically belonging to the broader federal jurisdiction; and

WHEREAS, The establishment of some reasonable line of division giving to the states sole taxing authority below such line, and to the federal government sole taxing authority above such line, would cure much of the trouble existing because of conflict of jurisdiction between states; would relieve the tension between federal and state governments; would result in great economy in the levying and collection of taxes; and would relieve the growing dissatisfaction on the part of the taxpayer resulting from irritating and expensive duplication of accounts and reports and double taxation;

Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate of the State of California, jointly, That we respectfully urge upon the Congress of the United States and the legislatures of the several states the need of holding a congress of the states to consider the subject of federal and state sources of revenue, with the object of adopting and urging upon the Congress of the United States a definite policy in the segregation of state and federal revenue; and we urge the legislatures of the other states to provide for attendance of representatives at such congress; and be it further

Resolved, That the President of the United States be invited to appoint a representative and that both houses of the Congress of the United States be invited to appoint representatives to attend such conference

Resolved, that the Governor of the State of California is hereby requested to urge the Governors of other states to recommend favorable action and to arrange for the time and place of such national meeting and that the Governor of California be authorized to appoint delegates to represent the State of California at such conference; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forthwith transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the President of the Senate of the United States and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States; a copy hereof to each member of Congress from the State of California, and a copy to the President of the Senate and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of each of the state legislatures in session at this time.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER TWELVE,

Relative to the recession to the State of California, by the United States, of the right to use any part of the bed of "Lower or Little Klamath Lake" for the storage of water connected with the operations of the reclamation service of the United States, and the recession to said State of all the right, title, interest and claim of the United States in and to any and all lands uncovered by the lowering of the water level of said lake, or surrounding or connected with said lake, ceded to the United States by an act of the Legislature of the State of California, approved February 3, 1905

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California passed an act, approved February 3, 1905, of which the following is a copy

CHAPTER VI.

An act authorizing the United States Government to lower the water levels of any or all of the following lakes: Lower or Little Klamath Lake, Tule or Rhett Lake, Goose Lake and Clear Lake, situated in Siskiyou and Modoc counties, and to use any part or all of the beds of said lakes for the storage of water in connection with the irrigation and reclamation operations conducted by the reclamation service of the United States; also ceding to the United States all right, title, interest or claim of the State of California to any lands uncovered by the lowering of the water levels of any or all of said lakes not already disposed of by the State.

(Approved February 3, 1905.)

The people of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows

SECTION 1 That for the purpose of aiding in the operations of irrigation and reclamation conducted by the reclamation service of the United States, established by the act of Congress, approved June 17, 1902 (32 Stat 388), known as the Reclamation Act, the United States is hereby authorized to lower the water levels of any or all of the following lakes: Lower or Little Klamath Lake, Tule or Rhett Lake, Goose Lake and Clear Lake, situated in Siskiyou and Modoc counties, as shown by the map of the United States Geological Survey, and to use any part or all of the beds of said lakes for the storage of water in connection with such operations

SEC. 2 And there is hereby ceded to the United States all the right, title, interest or claim of this State to any lands uncovered by the lowering of the water levels of any or all of said lakes, not already disposed of by this State; and the lands hereby ceded may be disposed of by the United States free of any claim on the part of this State, in any manner that may be deemed advisable by the authorized agencies of the United States, in pursuance of the provisions of said Reclamation Act, provided, that this act shall not be in effect as to the lakes herein named which lie partly in the state of Oregon, until a similar cession has been made by that state.

AND WHEREAS, The reclamation service of the United States has not, during the twelve years which have elapsed since the approval of the aforesaid act, lowered the water level of said "Lower or Little Klamath Lake" or used the bed of said lake for the purpose of storing water to use in connection with the reclamation of the land adjacent to said lake, and there are no indications that the reclamation service intends to ever reclaim the land, thereby accomplishing the purposes of the Legislature of the State of California as expressed in said act approved February 3, 1905.

AND WHEREAS, There is a large body of swamp and overflowed land surrounding said lake in Siskiyou County, unfit for cultivation without reclamation, upon the title to which a cloud has been cast by the ambiguous wording of the above mentioned act, which it is necessary to remove before such land can be successfully thrown open to entry, reclamation and cultivation; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Assembly and Senate, jointly. That the Legislature of the State of California respectfully request our Senators and Representatives in Congress to use their influence and to take all proper means to have a bill introduced and passed by Congress and approved by the President of the United States, ceding back to the State of California the right to use all or any part of the bed of "Lower or Little Klamath Lake" for the storage of water connected with the operations of the reclamation service of the United States, and also ceding back to the State all the right, title, interest or claim of the United States, in or to any of the lands surrounding or connected with said lake in Siskiyou County, ceded to it by the above mentioned act of the Legislature of California, to the end that such lake water and lands shall be returned to said State, as they were prior to the approval of said act of the Legislature approved February 3, 1905, and be governed by the general laws by which they were governed prior thereto, reserving, however, to the United States, the right to lower the water level in said lake, as provided in said act approved February 3, 1905.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER FIVE

Relative to a measure pending in Congress known as H. R. 19291 for the promotion of reclamation of arid and swamp lands and memorializing Congress for the passage of the bill.

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the house of representatives by Mr Smith of Idaho a bill known as H. R. 19291, and in the Senate by Mr. Chamberlain, known as S. 7487, which proposed bill is as follows:

A BILL

To promote the reclamation of arid and swamp lands in the United States, and for other purposes

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That beginning with July 1, 1917, there shall be paid out of the receipts of the reclamation fund the sum of five hundred thousand dollars per annum into a special fund in the treasury of the United States, to be known as the reclamation guaranty fund, until such reclamation guaranty fund reaches a total of ten million dollars, to be used to reimburse the general funds of the treasury of the United States for any costs, losses, or expenses not otherwise provided for, which may be incurred under the provisions of this act. Should said reclamation guaranty fund ever become exhausted in the payment of obligations incurred under the provisions of this act, then from such time the sum of one million dollars shall be paid each year out of the receipts of the reclamation fund until such reclamation guaranty fund again reaches the sum of ten million dollars.

SEC. 2. That when the secretary of the interior, pursuant to the provisions of the reclamation act of June 17, 1902, and acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto, hereinafter referred to as the reclamation law, shall have determined that the construction of a project or unit of a project for the reclamation of arid and semiarid lands is practical and advisable, or if he shall determine that any project for the drainage of any swamp lands is practicable and advisable, and shall have approved of the construction thereof under the provisions of this act, the Secretary of the Interior is authorized to enter into contract or contracts with an irrigation or drainage district or districts, including such lands, which are duly organized under the laws of the state or states in which such lands are located, and thereafter to provide for the construction of the necessary works under the provisions of this act for the reclamation of such lands.

SEC. 3. That when such district or districts shall have duly voted and issued bonds bearing interest at a rate to be fixed by the Secretary of the Interior not to exceed four per centum per annum, in sufficient amount to cover the cost of such project as estimated by the Secretary of the Interior, and the legality and validity of such bond issue shall have been duly confirmed by the courts in the manner provided by the state laws and upon the execution of contract or contracts between the district or districts and the Secretary of the Interior, he is authorized to accept such district bonds and deposit the same with the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall collect the principal and interest thereof and apply the same to the payment of the principal and interest of the certificates of indebtedness hereinafter authorized, provided, that the total face value of such irrigation or drainage district bonds accepted by the Secretary of the Interior shall not for any one project exceed the sum of twenty-five million dollars.

SEC. 4. That upon the receipt by the Secretary of the Treasury of such district bonds he shall issue certificates of indebtedness of the United States in amount equal to the face value of such district bonds and bearing interest at the same rate in such form as he may prescribe and in denominations of fifty dollars or multiples thereof, the principal and interest to be payable in gold coin of the United States, the principal and interest thereof to become due not less than sixty days after the due date of the principal and interest of the corresponding district bonds, respectively. Such certificates of indebtedness shall run for the same period as the corresponding district bonds.

SEC. 5. That from time to time, as funds may be required by the Secretary of the Interior for construction purposes, such certificates of indebtedness shall be disposed of by the Secretary of the Interior, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, giving all citizens of the United States an equal opportunity to subscribe therefor, but no commission shall be allowed, and the aggregate issue of such certificates shall not exceed the amount of the district bonds deposited with the Secretary of the Treasury and shall in no event exceed the sum of twenty-five million dollars for any one project, and the proceeds from the sale of such certificates of indebtedness shall be deposited in a special project fund to be used in carrying out the provisions of this act for said project.

SEC. 6. That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to expend the moneys in any such project fund for constructing the necessary works in the same manner and under the same conditions as expenditures are provided for in the said reclamation law, which shall be applicable to the said works in all respects, except as herein specifically modified.

SEC. 7. That should a surplus remain from the proceeds of the sale of such certificates of indebtedness issued in connection with any project after the construction of the works provided for in the contract or contracts, such surplus may be used in the construction of additional works in connection with said project provided for by supplemental contract or contracts, or the same may be used in the operation and maintenance of the works of the project or credited as payment of interest on the district bonds issued on account of said project until exhausted. All contracts hereunder with such districts shall limit the expenditures to be made by the United States to the proceeds of the certificates of indebtedness issued on account of bonds for such district or districts and may provide for the issue and deposit of additional bonds should the bonds originally deposited prove insufficient in amount. If in the opinion of the Secretary of the Interior sufficient funds are available in the reclamation fund, the construction of the proposed works for the reclamation of arid or semiarid lands within the states named in the reclamation law may be paid wholly or in part out of the reclamation fund, and the said reclamation fund shall be reimbursed for any sums so used therefrom.

SEC. 8. That the certificates of indebtedness herein authorized shall be exempt from taxes or duties of the United States as well as from taxation in any form by or under the state, municipal, or local authority, and a sum not exceeding one-tenth of one per centum of the amount of the certificates of indebtedness issued under this act is hereby appropriated out of the said reclamation fund to pay the expense of preparing, advertising, and issuing the same; provided, that the reclamation fund shall be reimbursed for such expenditure out of the proceeds of the sale of such certificates of indebtedness, which expense shall be charged to the district or districts in the same manner as all other expenses in connection with the construction of the project works.

SEC. 9. That should the collections of principal or interest on any district bond issue deposited with the Secretary of the Treasury be insufficient to meet the payment of the principal or interest of the corresponding certificates of indebtedness, then the general funds of the treasury shall be reimbursed for any such deficiency out of the reclamation guaranty fund, and should any such defaulted bond, interest or principal, be collected after such reimbursement of the general fund, then such collection shall be credited to the said reclamation guaranty fund.

SEC. 10. That upon default of any installment of the principal and interest of any district bond so accepted and deposited, the Secretary of the Interior may declare the entire amount of such issue in default, and through the Attorney General of the United States may cause suit to be instituted for the collection of the amount in default of principal or interest or the entire amount of such bond issue, principal and interest, and the Attorney General shall, upon request of the Secretary of the Interior under this act, cause proceedings to be commenced for the recovery of said amounts within ninety days from the receipt of the application at the Department of Justice.

SEC. 11. That unencumbered public lands of the United States proposed to be irrigated or drained under any project under the provisions of this act shall be divided into farm units of areas which, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Interior, may be reasonably required for the support of a family upon the lands in question, and the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to have such farm units appraised and from time to time to advertise and sell the same in such portions or units of the project as he shall deem advisable, at public auction for cash to the highest bidder at not less than the appraised value thereof, not more than one farm unit being sold to any one person, and such sale shall be subject to the conditions herein-after provided in regard to the reclamation and drainage thereof. Should any such land remain unsold at such public auction it may thereafter be sold at private sale for cash at not less than the appraised value, and should any such land remain unsold at private sale it may be reappraised from time to time at intervals of two years and sold at public auction or private sale, as in this section provided.

SEC. 12. That for lands so sold contracts of sale shall be issued subject to the condition that within two years after the date of notice by the Secretary of the Interior that water is available for the irrigation of such farm unit, or drainage capacity is available therefor, that the purchaser shall have cleared (where clearing is required), drained, cultivated, prepared for irrigation or agricultural uses, in the manner required by the Secretary of the Interior, at least one-eighth of the irrigable or reclaimable acreage of such farm unit and made proof of the irrigation or drainage thereof, satisfactory to the Secretary of the Interior, one-fourth of the irrigable or reclaimable acreage shall be reclaimed and drained within three years, three-eighths within four years, and one-half within five years after the date of such notice by the Secretary of the Interior. Upon proof satisfactory to the Secretary of the Interior, of the reclamation and drainage of one-half the irrigable or reclaimable acreage at any time before or after said period of five years, patent shall issue to the purchaser or his assignee holding an assignment duly filed in the local land office, but should such purchaser fail to make proof in any year of the irrigation, drainage, and reclamation of the acreage as herein required or to make proof of the irrigation, reclamation, and drainage of one-half the irrigable and reclaimable acreage within a period of ten years, then such contract together with all payments made thereon, shall be subject to forfeiture by the Secretary of the Interior, and the land shall revert to the United States to be again appraised and sold in like manner as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 13. That from the money received from such sales of land the expense of appraisal and sale paid from the reclamation or project fund shall be deducted and the balance shall be turned into the reclamation fund, and may, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Interior be used in the construction of proposed projects either under this act or under the reclamation law.

SEC. 14. That the unpatented lands of the United States within the limits of any district with which contract is made by the Secretary of the Interior shall be subject to the provisions of the act entitled "An act to promote the reclamation of arid lands, approved August 11, 1916 (Thirty-ninth Statutes, page five hundred six) "

SEC. 15. That the Secretary of the Interior is hereby authorized to perform any and all acts and to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper for the purpose of carrying the provisions of this act into full force and effect.

AND WHEREAS, The passage of such bill would be of incalculable benefit to the State of California in aiding in the reclamation of its arid land;

Resolved, That the Senate and Assembly of the State of California respectfully request and urge the Congress of the United States to pass the said bill, and be it further

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be urged to use all reasonable means to secure the passage of this bill; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Senators and Representatives in Congress of California and to the President of the United States.

That Subdivisions two and three of Section seventy-seven of Article twelve of the Charter be amended to read as follows:

CONDITION OF GRANT.

Section 77. Subdivision 2. The advertisement must state the character of the franchise, permit or privilege it is proposed to grant, and, if it be a street or suburban or interurban railroad, the route to be traversed; that sealed bids therefor will be opened at a stated time and place, and that the franchise, permit or privilege will be awarded to the bidder offering to pay to the City during the life of the franchise, permit or privilege, the highest percentage of the net annual revenue received from the use, operation or possession of the franchise, permit or privilege; provided, that such net annual revenue shall be determined by deducting from the gross annual revenue collected from any and all sources, under and by virtue of such franchise, permit or privilege, all operating and maintenance costs, taxes, insurance, depreciation as fixed by the Board of Control and six (6) per cent interest on the valuation of the property of the grantee used and useful or determined in the franchise ordinance to be of prospective usefulness in the public service. Such valuation to be fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California or its successors in interest, and determined as provided in Section eighty-two (82) of this Charter; and provided further, that the said percentage of the net annual revenue to be paid to the City shall not be less than fifty-five (55) per cent; and provided further, that the Council shall have the right to reject any and all bids.

BIDDING FOR THE FRANCHISE

Section 77. Subdivision 3. At the time of opening the sealed bids, any responsible person, firm or corporation may bid for such franchise, permit or privilege not less than one-half ( $\frac{1}{2}$ ) of one (1) per cent of the net annual revenue for the entire term of the franchise, permit or privilege above the highest sealed bid therefor, and such bids so made may be raised not less than one-half ( $\frac{1}{2}$ ) of one (1) per cent of said net annual revenue for such entire term, by any other responsible bidder, and such bidding may continue until finally such franchise, permit or privilege shall be struck off, sold and awarded by the Council to the person, firm or corporation offering the highest percentage of the said net annual revenue arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise, permit or privilege subject to the provisions of Subdivision two of this Section; provided, that if in the judgment of the Council no adequate or responsible bid has been made, the Council may withdraw such franchise, permit or privilege from sale or advertise for new bids.

If the franchise, permit or privilege is for a street or suburban or interurban railroad, which shall extend beyond the limits of the City of Berkeley, then and in that case the percentage of the net annual revenue above specified shall be computed or reckoned as follows: The total length of the said railroad within and without the City, shall be compared with the length of said railroad within the City, for which a franchise, permit or privilege is bid, and such fraction of the net revenue for the whole of the said railroad, within and without the City, as the portion of such railroad within the City is of the said whole railroad shall be deemed and considered the net annual revenue upon which the above percentage to be paid into the City Treasury shall be reckoned. No street or suburban or interurban or commercial railroad shall, without permission from the City of Berkeley granted by ordinance so to do, use the tracks of any other street or suburban or interurban or commercial railroad within the City of Berkeley.

Such valuation to be fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, or its successors in interest, and determined as provided in Section Eighty-two (82) of this Charter.

PASSAGE AND APPROVAL OF FRANCHISE.

(4) Every such re-settlement franchise shall be introduced in the Council in the form of an ordinance, at least ten days prior to being passed to print, and shall remain before the Council at least twenty (20) days after printing before final passage. After the final passage of said ordinance the same shall be referred and submitted to the vote of the electors of the City at the general or special election next ensuing not less than twenty (20) days after the final passage of such ordinance. But if no general or special election is to be held in the City within a period of not less than twenty (20) days and not more than ninety (90) days after such final passage, the Council shall call a Special Election for the purpose of submitting said ordinance to the electors as aforesaid, said Special Election to be held not less than thirty (30) days and not more than sixty (60) days after such final passage.

ADDITIONAL POWERS.

(6) In the passage of a re-settlement franchise, the Council shall have power to impose terms and conditions not inconsistent with this Charter, in addition to the terms and conditions provided for herein, and shall have such other powers hereunder as may be found necessary to the proper preparation, enactment, and the carrying out of the terms of a re-settlement franchise that shall provide, first, service of the highest efficiency to the public, second, sufficient new money to make extensions in the service of the public utility necessary in the proper development of the City, and third, the right of the City to convey to a third person, firm or corporation the City's privileges of purchasing the property of the grantee upon like terms and conditions as the City may so purchase.

AMENDMENTS TO RE-SETTLEMENT FRANCHISES.

(7) Any re-settlement franchise may be amended from time to time by ordinance passed by the Council and ratified by the electors of the City in the manner herein prescribed for the passage of such re-settlement franchise in the first instance and not otherwise; provided, that any such amendment shall not be effective unless accepted in writing by the grantee of such re-settlement franchise, and provided, further, that the Council in the preparation of such amendment may in its discretion act without the appointment of an advisory board, and that no such amendment shall in any respect contravene the provisions of this Section of this Charter.

JOINT CONTROL.

(8) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide for a Board of Control to consist of two competent and experienced men, one to be selected by the Council and one by the grantee of said franchise, all disagreements between the two to be decided by an arbiter appointed for that purpose in a manner to be determined in such franchise.

SERVICE.

(9) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide for service of the highest efficiency, which shall be maintained during the life of the franchise

NEW FRANCHISES AND EXTENSIONS.

(10) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide that any new franchise granted to the holder of such re-settlement franchise shall be considered as a part of such re-settlement franchise, and shall also provide that the Council may by ordinance grant to the grantee of such re-settlement franchise the right to extend the appliances and service of such grantee. All such extensions shall become a part of the aggregate property of such grantee, and shall be subject to all the obligations and rights in favor of the City applicable to the property of the grantee by virtue of such re-settlement franchise. The right to use and maintain any such extension shall expire with the original grant of such grantee by which the extensions are made.

CONSOLIDATED OR ANNEXED TERRITORY.

(11) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide that in case of consolidation with or annexation to the City of any territory not now included in said City, any franchise to operate such utility or any part thereof, held or claimed by the holder of such re-settlement franchise in or for any portion of such consolidated or annexed territory shall thereupon be surrendered to the City and that the rights and obligations of such re-settlement franchise shall thereupon automatically extend to such additional territory, and that a valuation of the properties used and useful, or in the discretion of the City prospectively useful in the operation of such utility in the area so consolidated or annexed and not included in the capital valuation already fixed in such re-settlement franchise shall be added to the capital account of said re-settlement franchise grantee at a valuation fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, or its successors in interest and otherwise determined as provided in Section Eighty-two (82) of this Charter.

PROVISION FOR THE SURRENDER OF EXISTING FRANCHISES

(12) Every re-settlement franchise shall provide for the surrender by the grantee thereof of any or all of the franchises or rights owned or claimed by such grantee for the occupation of the streets or public places of said City at the time of such re-settlement, and the acceptance in lieu thereof of the rights and privileges granted by such re-settlement franchise as a franchise for the continued operation of such utility within the limits of the City or such portion thereof as had heretofore been operated under the franchise or franchises so surrendered, but not in contravention of any conditions of this Charter

ASSUMPTION OF BONDED INDEBTEDNESS.

(13) Every re-settlement franchise may provide that, when purchasing the property of the grantee, the City, if and when permitted by the provisions of the Constitution of the State of California, may assume the obligations of such grantee for the payment of the bonds then outstanding against said property, not exceeding in aggregate par value the valuation of the property thus purchased, determined as in Section Eighty-two (82) of this Charter provided, and in such case the par value of such bonds shall be deducted from the said valuation of the property and the excess, if any, of the valuation of the property over the par value of the bonds so assumed shall be the purchase price to be paid to the grantee by the City for said property. After such purchase, the bonds so assumed shall no longer be a lien exclusively upon the franchise or property of the utility as such, but may be secured by the general credit of the City or by a lien upon a fixed percentage or amount of the gross earnings of such utility or otherwise, as may be provided in such re-settlement franchise.

That Section Seventy-eight (78) of Article Twelve be amended to read as follows:

LIFE OF FRANCHISE.

Section 78. Every franchise, permit or privilege shall be granted for an indeterminate period, subject always to the right of the City to acquire and possess the property of the grantee and to assign its right to acquire and possess to a third person, firm or corporation as in Section Eighty-two (82) hereof provided.

That Section Eighty-two (82) of Article Twelve be amended to read as follows:

RIGHT OF CITY TO ASSUME OWNERSHIP.

Section 82. Every new franchise, permit or privilege and every re-settlement franchise, shall be granted upon the express condition that the City may, at a valuation fixed and determined, as hereinafter provided, either assume ownership by purchase and take over to itself the property used and useful or in the discretion of the City prospectively useful of the franchise grantee, his or its successors or assigns, or assign its right to acquire and possess said property to a third person, firm or corporation upon giving said grantee six months' written notice of its intention to so purchase and take over said property, which written notice shall be given only when authorized by ordinance. The valuation of such property, used and useful, or in the discretion of the City prospectively useful and owned by the grantee at the time application is made for said new franchise, permit or privilege, or for said re-settlement franchise, shall be fixed by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, or its successor in interest, and shall be set forth in said new franchise, permit or privilege, or in said re-settlement franchise, as the case may be. To this value shall be added the cost of all additions, extensions and betterments made with the approval of the Board of Control, and from this value shall be deducted the value of property sold or abandoned and the depreciation to be determined and fixed by the Board of Control in accordance with the provisions of the franchise and annually charged to the capital value of said property, and the valuation to which said additions have been made and from which such deductions have been made shall be the valuation upon which the six per cent interest referred to in subdivision three (3) of section seventy-seven and one-half (77½), and in subdivision two (2) of section seventy-seven (77) shall be computed, and shall be the valuation at which said property may be acquired by the City, or by the third person, firm or corporation to which such right is assigned by the City.

That Section Eighty-eight (88) of Article Twelve of the Charter be amended to read as follows:

PAYMENT OF NET RECEIPTS.

Section 88. The stipulated percentage of net receipts provided in this Charter to be paid for the use and enjoyment of any franchise, permit or privilege shall be paid annually at the time of filing the annual report provided for in Section Eighty-seven (87) of this Charter to be filed by persons, firms or corporations holding franchises, permits or privileges. #### ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER ELEVEN.

Relative to the Improvement of Crescent City Harbor.

WHEREAS, There has been introduced in the Congress of the United States a bill carrying an appropriation of three hundred ninety thousand dollars for the improvement of Crescent City harbor; and

WHEREAS, The shipping interests of the Pacific coast greatly need a harbor midway between the Golden Gate and the mouth of the Columbia River and half way between Mexico on the south and Canada on the north, into which coastwise vessels may enter with safety in time of storm or in time of distress; and

WHEREAS, A large area of country in northern California and southern Oregon will be greatly benefited by such improvement and the commerce of the United States greatly increased from the now dormant natural resources in mines, horticultural products, agricultural products and the wonderful timber resources of that country; and

WHEREAS, One hundred forty thousand people who live in the territory to be benefited by it are demanding the improvement of Crescent City harbor; and

WHEREAS, Sixty thousand square miles of territory in northern California, northern Nevada, southern Oregon and southern Idaho will be directly benefited by the improvement of this harbor; and

WHEREAS, Rogue River Valley alone will enjoy a saving in freight rates of seven million dollars a year on eighteen million boxes of fruit when the present plantings are in full bearing and the harbor at Crescent City is improved; and

WHEREAS, Eighty-four billion feet of merchantable lumber will find its way to Crescent City harbor from the United States forest reserves, provided the harbor is improved, which would mean at least eighty-four million dollars for the government from stumpage and eight hundred forty million dollars for the people who fell the timber, handle the logs and manufacture and move the lumber; and

WHEREAS, It is estimated that private parties and corporations own at least one hundred twenty billion feet of timber in this territory, which if manufactured and moved to market would mean over two hundred million dollars to the owners and the men who do the work; and

WHEREAS, One million tons of copper ore have been blocked out within sixty miles of Crescent City harbor, which can be profitably moved only with harbor and railroad facilities, which would amount to a million dollar business and as yet this section of country has not been thoroughly prospected for minerals; and

WHEREAS, When the seawalls have been completed, according to the engineers' report, the harbor will have an entrance forty feet deep at low water and a width of one thousand feet, there will be a strip of water from five hundred to two thousand feet wide and over a mile long, thirty feet deep and over; and

WHEREAS, Crescent City Bay, with the proposed seawalls completed, would be a harbor of refuge for all coastwise craft, and could be economically deepened and widened to make room for a large fleet of heavy draft vessels; and

WHEREAS, This bay is half way from San Francisco to the mouth of the Columbia River, and is midway between Canada on the north and Mexico on the south, its geographical location, therefore, especially fitting it for a naval base, and its close proximity to the Coast range of mountains to the south and east and the high islands two miles to the north admirably fitting it for inexpensive defense; and

WHEREAS, The board of engineers for rivers and harbors has reported favorably upon the project; and

WHEREAS, The resources of an empire await this harbor improvement; and

WHEREAS, The people of Del Norte County, California, have provided one hundred thousand dollars to be used by the government engineers in the proposed work, now, therefore be it

Resolved, by the Assembly and the Senate of the Legislature of the State of California, jointly. That our Representatives and Senators in Congress be and they are hereby urged and requested to use all honorable means to procure the passage of said bill providing for the improvement of Crescent City harbor; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be and he is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of these resolutions to each of our Representatives and Senators in Congress.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER THREE.

Relative to the establishment of definite lines of division between federal and state taxes, and the calling of a congress of the states to consider conflicting jurisdictions of the federal and state governments

WHEREAS, In the exercise of its taxing power the federal government is embracing the sources of revenue heretofore not availed of by that government, and

WHEREAS, This encroachment is felt particularly in the case of income and inheritance taxes, both of which forms of taxes are in danger of being dried up as sources of state revenue; and

WHEREAS, There exists a line which separates the taxable units that equitably and logically may be left solely to state taxation from the units logically belonging to the broader federal jurisdiction; and

WHEREAS, The establishment of some reasonable line of division giving to the states sole taxing authority below such line, and to the federal government sole taxing authority above such line, would cure much of the trouble existing because of conflict of jurisdiction between states; would relieve the tension between federal and state governments; would result in great economy in the levying and collection of taxes, and would relieve the growing dissatisfaction on the part of the taxpayer resulting from irritating and expensive duplication of accounts and reports and double taxation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly. That we respectfully urge upon the congress of the United States and the legislatures of the several states the need of holding a congress of the states to consider the subject of federal and state sources of revenue, with the object of adopting and urging upon the congress of the United States a definite policy in the segregation of state and federal revenue, and we urge the legislatures of the other states to provide for attendance of representatives at such congress; and be it further

Resolved, That the President of the United States be invited to appoint a representative and that both houses of the congress of the United States be invited to appoint representatives to attend such conference, and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the State of California is hereby requested to urge the governors of other states to recommend favorable action and to arrange for the time and place of such national meeting; and that the Governor of California be authorized to appoint delegates to represent the State of California at such conference; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forthwith transmitted by the secretary of the senate to the president of the senate of the United States and to the speaker of the house of representatives of the United States; a copy hereof to each member of congress from the State of California, and a copy to the president of the senate and to the speaker of the house of representatives of each of the state legislatures in session at this time.

TAX RATE.

SEC 81. The total tax rate for any one year shall not exceed one per cent of the assessed valuation, unless a special tax be authorized by a two-thirds majority of all votes cast at an election held after at least thirty days' notice in the published call for the election; and the proceeds of any such special tax shall be used for no other purpose than that specified in said call; provided, however, that in addition to said one per cent there shall be included in every annual levy, a sufficient amount to cover all liabilities of the City for principal and interest of all bonds or judgments due and unpaid, or to become due during the ensuing fiscal year and not otherwise provided for; and provided also, that in addition to the above items, the Council may include a levy, not to exceed five hundredths of one per cent in any one year, for the purpose of creating and maintaining a Revolving Fund, which shall be used to cover principal and interest of deferred or defaulted payments or assessments—all such assessments, when collected and all interest thereon, to be repaid to said fund.

ASSESSMENT OF TAXES.

APPRAISEMENT.

SEC. 82. In preparation for the first assessment of taxes after this Charter takes effect, and at intervals of five years thereafter, the Council shall, at or before its first meeting in February, provide for a scientific appraisal by a recognized expert, of all real property in the City, provided, that if such appraisal shall have been made before this Charter takes effect, a new appraisal shall be required only at intervals of five years after such previous appraisal. This appraisal shall be made as if at 12 m. on the first Monday in March, and shall be used by the Assessor as the basis for the assessment for that year, and he shall revise his valuation in each intervening year.

Whenever such expert appraisal is to be made, the council may, with the consent of the Board of Supervisors, provide by resolution for a joint appraisal for the use of the City and County; in which case the resolution shall authorize the payment by the City of not more than one-half of the total expense of such joint appraisal.

COLLECTION OF UNSECURED PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES.

SEC. 83. All taxes due from persons not assessed upon real property, shall be collected by the Assessor at the time of making the assessment, and he shall report such collections to the Auditor and deposit the proceeds with the Treasurer daily; such taxes shall be reckoned according to the tax rate of the preceding year, and shall be subject to correction after the rate for the current year has been fixed by the Council, when the Auditor shall add and the Collector shall collect, or the Auditor shall deduct and authorize the Treasurer to refund, according as the current rate may be higher or lower than that of the preceding year, such amount as may be necessary to make the assessment in each case agree with the current rate.

PUBLICATION OF TAX ROLL.

SEC. 84. The Assessor shall enter all his valuations of real and personal property upon an annual tax roll, which shall be published at least fifteen days before the meeting of the Board of Equalization, for distribution to all who may apply, and notice that such publication will be made shall be given in the manner provided for other advertising, at least one week in advance.

EQUALIZATION.

SEC. 85. On the first Monday in July in each year, and daily thereafter until and including the following Saturday, or for such further time as they may find necessary, the Council shall meet as a Board of Equalization, for the hearing and adjudication of all complaints regarding the description, valuation of ownership of assessed property, or the omission of property which should be assessed, and notice of the time and place of such meetings shall be included with notice of publication of the tax roll, and upon such roll when published. At such meetings the Council shall publicly order, and the Assessor shall enter upon the tax roll, all such corrections as may be adjudged equitable and in case of any additional assessment, the Assessor shall immediately send written notice of the same to the person assessed.

THE TAX RATE FIXED.

SEC. 86. After approval by the Board of Equalization, the tax roll shall be certified by the Clerk, and shall be subject to no further alteration. It shall then be delivered to the Auditor, who shall, within ten days, ascertain and certify to the Council the total valuation of real estate, improvements and personal property, and the Council, in view of this and the estimates of income and expenses submitted by the Manager, shall, at its first regular meeting in August, proceed to fix the rate of taxation for the coming year, and to apportion the estimated proceeds thereof to the several purposes indicated in the budget.

EXTENSIONS.

SEC. 87. The Auditor shall at once proceed to extend upon the tax roll, the tax due upon each item, according to the rate fixed by the Council. Said tax shall be divided into two instalments which shall be determined by dividing the total of each individual's tax upon real estate and improvements into two parts as nearly equal as may be, and adding to the first part his total on personalty. The first installment shall be due on the first day of October of the current year, and shall become delinquent and subject to a penalty of fifteen per cent if not paid on or before the last Monday of November following; and the second installment shall be due on the first Monday in March, and shall become delinquent and subject to a penalty of five per cent, if not paid on or before the last Monday in April following, and a lien in favor of the City in the amount due, together with penalties attached, shall lie automatically against the real property assessed to the delinquent owner, until all taxes are due from him are paid.

COLLECTION.

SEC. 88. After completion of the tax roll, the Auditor shall deliver the roll to the Collector, who shall prepare a bill of taxes due from each taxpayer owning real property, on which shall be shown the valuation of each parcel of such owner's property, whether real estate, improvements, or personalty, the rate of assessment, the total amount due on each parcel, the amount of each installment, with the dates when due and when delinquent, and the penalties for delinquency; and not later than the first day of October he shall mail to each taxpayer, or to his authorized agent, whose address is known to him, a duplicate of said bill, and shall receive and receipt for all taxes and penalties paid until the second installment becomes delinquent, and shall then return the tax roll to the Auditor. The Tax Collector shall note upon the tax roll all collections as made, shall make a daily report to the Auditor of the amount collected, and make daily deposit of the same with the Treasurer. The Collector may accept separate payment of the tax due upon any one or more parcels of real estate with improvements upon each, or upon the personal property of any owner, and give a receipt for the same, but he shall not divide the assessment upon any single parcel, nor separate from any parcel of real estate the improvements attaching thereto, and no such partial payment shall avoid a lien in favor of the City upon all of the property assessed to any owner, in case of delinquency, unless the real property remaining unreleased in the name of said owner shall be at least equal in assessed value to all taxes remaining due and unpaid from said owner.

STATE LAWS TO GOVERN.

SEC. 89. Except as specified herein the collection of taxes and the enforcement of the same by sale of property shall be in accordance with the laws of the State of California governing similar procedure in the case of county taxes, substituting therein the word "city" for "county" and the titles of corresponding city officers for those of the county.

(a) Sufficient notice of any intended improvement shall be deemed to be given by publication, service and posting in the manner required by law, of a description in general terms of the work proposed, with notice that complete plans and specifications are on file at the office of the City Engineer and open to public inspection.

(b) The Council may announce that the Manager is authorized to enter into direct contract with the accepted bidder and to pledge the credit of the City for the payment of the amount agreed upon under the terms of the contract, in which event the contractor shall be entitled to such rights and remedies as in other cases of direct contract between himself and the City and the City shall acquire the same rights in the collection of assessments, attachment of liens and sale of property as would otherwise attach to the contractor under the general laws, and the collection of such assessments shall be made by the Tax Collector in the manner provided for the collection of taxes; and in case of default by owners of property or the issue of bonds for deferred payments, the amount of such defaulted or deferred payments shall be certified to the Auditor, who shall thereupon draw a warrant for said amount, and charge the same to the Revolving Fund provided for in Section 81, or if that fund be insufficient, the deficit shall be paid from any available fund in the treasury—all such amounts to be returned to the respective funds from which they have been drawn, immediately upon the collection of such assessments.

(c) If the estimated cost of any such improvement is not more than $500 00, the Council may authorize the Manager to have the work done with or without advertising for bids, reserving the right to reject any or all bids, and authorize the Manager to have the work done under his own direction; and the expense of such public improvement shall be charged to the lots, lands and property benefited and assessed thereto in any manner prescribed by law; and the collection of such assessments shall be made by the Tax Collector in the mode provided for the collection of taxes.

(d) The City may enter into contract with the owner or licensee of any patent, process or appliance for the use thereof.

ADVISORY COMMISSION FOR ASSESSMENT.

PUBLIC WORK NOT PAID FOR BY ASSESSMENT.*PROCEDURE.

SEC. 92. In all public work where the estimated cost of the work is in excess of five hundred dollars, the Manager shall advertise for sealed bids in such manner as the Council shall direct and the contract shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, provided that the Council shall have authority to reject any or all bids; and if all bids are rejected, the Council may advertise for new bids or order the Manager to have the work done in the best and most economical way.

SPECIAL TAXES AND BONDS.*SUBMISSION TO VOTERS.

SEC. 93. Whenever the Council shall determine that the public interest demands an expenditure for municipal purposes which can not be provided for out of the ordinary revenues of the City, it may submit to the qualified voters at a regular or special election, a proposition to provide for such expenditure, either by the levy of a special tax or by the issue of bonds, but no such special tax shall be levied, nor any such bonds issued unless authorized by the affirmative votes of two-thirds of the electors voting at such election, provided that no bonds shall be issued to meet current expenses.

LIMIT OF INDEBTEDNESS.

SEC. 94. The bonded debt of the City shall at no time exceed a total of ten per cent of the assessed valuation of all property taxable for City purposes, and of this ten per cent not more than one-half, or five per cent of the assessed valuation shall at any time be outstanding for improvements of a non-income producing character, provided, however, that bonds to a total amount not exceeding five per cent of said valuation may be set apart and excluded from said limit of ten per cent whenever any public utility or utilities for which they may have been issued shall produce a net income above all charges for operation and depreciation sufficient to pay the principal and interest of the bonds so set apart and excluded as they become due.

BONDS TO BE SERIAL.

SEC. 95. All bonds shall be payable serially, an equal portion of each issue being made payable in each year, until the whole amount has been paid; provided, that in the case of bonds issued for any public utility, which is expected when completed to produce an income sufficient to redeem said bonds with the interest thereon, the beginning of serial payment of the principal of said bonds may be deferred for a period not exceeding five years from the date of issue.

PRELIMINARY ESTIMATE.

SEC. 96. Before any bonds shall be proposed as required in Section 93, the Council shall require from the Manager an estimate of the total amount to be expended for each and every purpose for which an issue is proposed, the amount which will be needed in each year, if the expenditure is expected to continue more than one year; the probable life of the improvement or utility for which the expenditure is to be made; the probable time which will elapse before an income, if any, may be expected to accrue from it; and the probable expense for operation, maintenance and depreciation during and after said time; and no bonds shall be issued for a term of payment longer than such estimated life nor shall the amount issued in any one year exceed by more than ten per cent the estimated expenditure for that year for the purpose for which the bonds are issued.

TERMS OF ISSUE.

SEC. 97. The Manager shall also report to the Council, after investigation, the condition of the market for bonds, with advice as to the most favorable time for offering a proposed issue, the rate of interest which the bonds should bear, and the lowest price at which they should be sold, if in his opinion the conditions make it advisable to fix such a limit.

PUBLIC HEARING.

SEC. 98. Upon receipt of the Manager's estimate and report, the Council shall appoint and publicly announce a time and place when and where said estimate and report will be read and the amount, rate of interest, term of payment, and conditions of sale of the proposed bonds will be publicly considered and determined, with opportunity for public hearing; provided, that such public session may be adjourned from time to time as may be necessary or advisable.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Phillips:

We, the undersigned, residents of your district respectfully request that you use your influence and vote against any bills, which may be introduced in our Legislature, the object of which is to impose burdens or unfair conditions and restrictions or excessive license fees on rural retailers selling and delivering spices, extracts, and toilet articles, domestic and stock remedies, poultry supplies, etc.

These retailers have their regular customers and supply them from time to time with high grade goods at reasonable prices and on very favorable terms and we protest against any legislation which injures or restricts their business. Any such legislation would not only be unjust and unfair to them but it would also be an imposition upon our rights as citizens.

We find their method of doing business both economical and convenient. They guarantee the quality of their goods which we have always found to be very satisfactory. Their business affords suitable occupation for hundreds of men who are good, industrious, taxpaying citizens of our State, and any legislation imposing unjust burdens on these retailers will have a tendency to destroy honest competition, foster monopoly and increase the cost of our household necessities, and we earnestly protest against the passage of such bills.

Respectfully yours,

MRS. ANNIE COPELAND, Rivera, and 34 others.

By the Speaker :

Resolution adopted by the Board of Trustees of the City of Brawley, county of Imperial.

Resolved, That we, the Board of Trustees of Brawley City, do urgently request the State Legislature to enact into law the county unit bill, which will give each county of the State the power to protect itself against liquor shops maintained in small communities to the detriment of the whole county and against the wishes of the majority.

Resolved, further, That the clerk of this board shall send copies of the above resolution to our representatives, Hon. R. E. Wills, and S. C. Evans, and Senator Edgar A. Luce, and Hon. H. J. Baldwin, Chairman of the Assembly's Committee on Public Morals, and to the Clerk of the Assembly, and to the Secretary of the Senate at Sacramento.

Passed, adopted and approved this 19th day of February, 1917.

A. P. HIGGINS.

President of the Board of Trustees of the City of Brawley.

J. A. HARRIS, City Clerk.

Also :

Resolved, That we, the Board of Supervisors of Imperial County, California, in regular meeting convened, respectfully petition the Legislature of California at its present session to enact the Carr-Dennett bill amending the Wyllie local option law so that the whole county, including all incorporated cities therein, shall be one unit.

All of Imperial County, except the city of Imperial, is now no-license territory. A considerable majority of the permanent citizens of Imperial City desire to get rid of saloons there, but by concentrating the floating vote of the county in that city the liquor interests are able to perpetuate Imperial's saloons. In this age of good roads and jitneys, the saloons and liquor stores in Imperial are a nuisance to the whole country. Yet the county is powerless to remove them.

We are credibly informed that similar conditions exist in many counties of the State, and we therefore respectfully urge our State Legislature to give us relief from this intolerable condition by passing the county unit bill.

[SEAL]

M. S. COOK,

Clerk of the Board of Supervisors.

By E. B. WILSON, Deputy.

Above resolution passed and adopted by the Board of Supervisors of Imperial County, California, at a regular meeting held February 19, 1917.

To the Legislature of California in forty-second session assembled:

WHEREAS, The unfair and unreasonable increase in the cost of living has been and is now largely due to food-selling combines organized in restraint of trade; and

WHEREAS, We believe that a remedy for this evil exists in the provisions of the Brown-McPherson State Market Act, now a law of this State, and

WHEREAS, State Market Director Weinstock, while accepting the position and salary of State Market Director has failed to give us the benefits of said Market Act, and

WHEREAS, Said Market Director is presenting to the Legislature Senate Bill No 86 and Assembly Bill No. 325 which not only repeal this present splendid Market Law, but authorize him to continue the formation of food-selling combines in restraint of trade; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the undersigned, being citizens and taxpayers of this State, do hereby petition you, our representatives, to take the necessary steps to preserve and enforce the present market law which we believe will insure to the producer a more just recompense and to the consumer more reasonable prices for the necessities of life.

Resolution adopted at the meeting of the California Swine Breeders' Association held at Los Angeles, California, on January 18th and 19th.

WHEREAS, It is held by some that the remedy for existing marketing ills for farm products is the establishing of state markets in the towns and cities of California in order to bring producer and consumer together, and

WHEREAS, We, the members of the California Swine Breeders' Association assembled in the city of Los Angeles this 18th day of January, 1917, in state convention, feel in common with the field farmers of California that such state markets would not in the slightest degree solve our grave and serious marketing problems, and

WHEREAS, We firmly believe that the only solution for such swine marketing problems lies first of all in organizing a strong and effective swine breeders' marketing association, and

WHEREAS, We believe that such producers' marketing association is as much in the interest of the consumer as the producer, by—

(a) Raising the standards so as to ship market products equal to those shipped here from outside the State,

(b) Minimizing the waste in cost of distribution,

(c) Lessening the possibility of speculation and thus in the interest of producer and consumer stabilizing prices.

Be it therefore

Resolved, That we heartily approve the work that has been done and is being done by State Market Director Weinstock in organizing the farm producers of the State into effective marketing associations.

Resolved, That we earnestly recommend to the Legislature now in session that it approve such additional amendments to the marketing law as will enable the State Market Director in the interest of producer and consumer of farm products to broaden his activities and to enlarge the scope of his work so that the State Market Commission may be of highest usefulness to the great agricultural interests of California.

Resolved, That the secretary is hereby instructed to send copies of these resolutions to the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, President of the Senate, the Speaker of the Assembly, the State Market Director and the press.

Resolutions presented by the committee appointed by the president of the Association of Agricultural Teachers of Southern California.

WHEREAS, Southern California embraces some of the most important agricultural districts and industries of the State, and

WHEREAS, One of its counties (Los Angeles) has recently taken first place among the counties of the United States in the annual value of its agricultural products, and

WHEREAS, The amount of agricultural instruction in both elementary and high schools of three Southern California counties alone, equals that of the remainder of the State taken together, and

WHEREAS, Our young people are now obliged to go a distance of nearly 500 miles to secure special instruction in agricultural lines of work at the State University or University Farm School, and the distance from the Davis School deprives many citizens of Southern California, interested in short courses from taking such courses, and

WHEREAS, Many of the pupils now attending the Farm School at Davis, are too young to leave home influences for such lengths of time as are practically necessary, and

WHEREAS, About 65 per cent of the students now attending the Farm School at Davis, come from Southern California, and

WHEREAS, Many of our young men are practically denied the opportunities which such a school affords, because of the great distance from home, and

WHEREAS, Those desiring instruction in phases of agriculture peculiar to Southern California can not, on account of the differences in climate, secure such effectively at the University Farm School or at the Polytechnic School at San Luis Obispo, and

WHEREAS, The Davis Farm School has already reached its capacity limit in land and school facilities (see Dean Hunt's 1916 Report, page 13), and Southern California offers unlimited opportunities as to soil, location, etc., and

WHEREAS, State Senator G. C. Evans has recently introduced a bill calling for an appropriation for the establishment of a farm school in Southern California.

Resolved, That we, the agricultural teachers of Southern California, heartily endorse Senator Evans' bill, and urge our Senators and Assemblymen to use every honorable means to secure its passage.

OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, February 8, 1917.

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of California.

GENTLEMEN: At a meeting of the Fitchburg Social and Improvement Club held on February 5, 1917 the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, The people of the city of Oakland, at a special election held on August 22, 1916, adopted an amendment to the city charter permitting the leasing to the highest bidder of certain lands lying back of the western waterfront for a period exceeding twenty-five years; and

WHEREAS, It has been practically agreed that any lease entered into under said charter amendment shall not be given for an initial period exceeding fifty years, and that provisions shall be embodied therein which will amply protect the interests of the city of Oakland and of the people of the State of California; and

WHEREAS, The city council of the city of Oakland has agreed, by resolution duly adopted, to submit to a vote of the electors of the city at the general municipal election in May, the terms of any lease offered for sale under said charter amendment;

WHEREAS, Said charter amendment is now before the State Legislature for ratification, and the Legislature has never refused to ratify an amendment to a city charter, duly adopted by the voters of that city; now therefore be it

Resolved, That we earnestly and respectfully urge the members of the State Legislature, immediately upon convening after the recess, to approve said charter amendment adopted by the people of Oakland, and be it further

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be forwarded to the State Senate, the State Assembly, to the Citizens' Committee for Outer Harbor Development, and to the press.

Respectfully,

FITCHBURG SOCIAL AND IMPROVEMENT CLUB.

By GEO. E. SHILDEN, Secretary.

Also:

WHEREAS, It has come to the attention of this board that criticism is being made regarding the methods employed in the enforcement of the marketing law and that it is urged that the remedy for existing defects in marketing conditions for farm products is that state market houses be opened in all of the towns and cities of California, with the idea of bringing producer and consumer together; and

WHEREAS, The stockholders in this corporation consist of upwards of four hundred farmer producers of eggs within the State of California, many of whom have given the market house plan a conscientious trial, and have found and reported the same to be, so far as they are concerned, an impossible means of marketing their products, and a means by which an honest product can not compete on the open market; and

WHEREAS, The stockholders of this corporation have found by actual trial that the only solution for the marketing of eggs so as to give to the consumer a product for which he pays at a price in reason to the consumer, and at the same time in reason to producers, is by means of strong, concerted, effective organization; and

WHEREAS, Such organization will result in benefit to the consumer, as well as to the producer in that—

- (1) The consumer may enjoy the benefits of a rigorous, standardizing of products,—and that
- (2) The consumer, with the producer may receive joint benefit from the elimination of overhead in collective marketing, as distinguished from haphazard delivery of product to the state markets, and that
- (3) The producer and consumer may each enjoy the saving in cost of distribution,—and that
- (4) By retaining supervision, the producer may in a large measure eliminate wanton speculation in eggs,— which speculation has been found to be disastrous both to producer and consumer. Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That this corporation approve the method now being taken by Market Director Weinstock in showing individual producers in this State how they may organize effective market associations.

Resolved, further, That this corporation can foresee that the task before the Market Director has only begun and that he should be given every opportunity to carry out to ultimate conclusion and to perfect his plans for carrying into operation the marketing laws of the State of California

Resolved, further, That it be brought to the attention of the present session of the Legislature that the Market Director's plan when subjected to the actual test proves to be a practicable and feasible plan for carrying into effect the marketing laws of this State, and that the Legislature be advised that it is the earnest desire of stockholders of this corporation that such amendments to the marketing laws be made as will enable the Market Director to carry out its true spirit and purpose to the ultimate end that the State Marketing Law result in the highest usefulness both to the producer and consumer, and to the further end that impossible or impracticable features of the marketing law as they are found may be eliminated in order that the State Marketing Law shall not,—as so many of the other laws of the State of California,—become impossible of fulfillment

Resolved, further, That the secretary be instructed to spread this resolution upon the minutes of this corporation and to send copies thereof to the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the President of the Senate, to Senator Brown, Speaker of the Assembly, State Market Director, and to the press.

PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS

The following petitions were presented and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Mr. Speaker:

To the Legislature of California in forty-second session assembled:

WHEREAS, The cost of living has during the past twenty years increased 83 per cent. and

WHEREAS, That this unfair and unreasonable increase has been and is now largely due to food combines organized in restraint of trade; also to the activities of greedy speculators who have corralled the people's necessities and are holding them for prices that are extortionate; and

WHEREAS, In our investigations into the high cost of living, we have uncovered the fact that there are no laws in the State of California whereby we could bring these people to strict account; and

WHEREAS, We look to you our legislators to protect us with proper laws whereby we may be protected; and

WHEREAS, We believe that a remedy for this evil exists in the provisions of Senate Bill No. 626, which was especially drafted to cover the present situation in regard to the high cost of food necessities; and

WHEREAS, Our investigations into the high cost of living have led us to believe that it is less "a war problem", less a "crop shortage problem" than it is a "trust problem"; and

WHEREAS, We believe that the passage of Senate Bill No. 626 would prove a boon to every household in the State of California; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, undersigned citizens of the State of California, do hereby petition you, our representatives, to pass Senate Bill No. 626; and be it

Resolved, That we request that copies of these resolutions be printed in the Journals of the Senate and Assembly.

THE CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF BERKELEY, CAL.

By Mrs. W. T. CLEVERDON, Chairman.

Also:

WHEREAS, The State Commission of Immigration and Housing of California invited the city of San Jose together with the other thirteen largest cities in the State, to participate in a state housing institute, to hold a series of conferences for the purpose of studying the housing problem in all its phases, and of discussing the best methods of not only remedying present conditions but of providing for the welfare of our future citizens; and

WHEREAS, Several meetings have been held during the past year in various parts of the State, in which meetings the several cities have participated, together with organizations having to do with architecture, housing, building, realty, engineering, city planning, and the operation of hotels and tenements, and in which meetings health and building commissioners, social workers, and others interested have also taken part, and

WHEREAS, As a result of these various meetings, three uniform, reasonable and logical housing bills have been carefully and scientifically drawn up, and have been introduced in the Legislature as Senate Bills Nos. 403, 433 and 457, to be acted upon at the second session of the said Legislature, during the months of March and April of this year, and

WHEREAS, The enactment of these three proposed bills into law will unquestionably subserve the best interests of the people of not only this city, but of the State of California, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the City Council of the City of San Jose, in regular session assembled, February, 1917, does heartily endorse the work of the State Housing Institute and earnestly recommends and urges the California Legislature to enact the said three proposed housing bills into the law at the very earliest possible date; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread on the minutes of the City Council, and that copies hereof be sent to the State Housing Institute, the Governor of the State of California, and the presiding officer of the Senate and the presiding officer of the Assembly, also, that a copy hereof be sent to the chairman of the Committee on Public Health and Quarantine of the Senate and of the Assembly.

WHEREAS, The operation and construction of municipally owned utilities within the city and county of San Francisco and municipalities generally throughout the State is in its first stages of development, and

WHEREAS, The success thus far obtained in San Francisco and other municipalities of the State in government ownership of these utilities has been had in the face of many years of consistent opposition from certain opponents of municipal ownership, and

WHEREAS, This success continues to invite increased opposition from these same interests, and

WHEREAS, It has been proposed at the present session of the Legislature to submit a constitutional amendment to the people of the State, which if adopted, would tax these municipally owned utilities that are now free from taxation, and

WHEREAS, in the judgment of this board of supervisors it is to the greatest interest of the people of the State that all possible state support and encouragement be given to municipally operated utilities during the early years in the life of these utilities, and

WHEREAS, The imposition of such a tax would be the placing by the State of an obstacle in the way of the ultimate success of municipal ownership at a time when state encouragement is most needed in the early stages of this modern development of governmental activity; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the board of supervisors of the city and county of San Francisco that the representatives of this city and county in the State Senate and the State Assembly be respectfully urged and requested to take every honorable means to defeat the adoption by the Legislature of such a constitutional amendment as above described, and that they further be requested to enlist the cooperation of all members of the Legislature who are interested in the final success of municipal ownership of utilities throughout the State of California.
